CAMPAIGN IN SOUTH SHOWS AL HAS EDGE

Only Truly Doubtful States Are Oklahoma, Missouri and Kentucky

NEGRO VOTE IMPORTANT

Smith Majorities Will Be Greatly Reduced in South Lawrence Thinks

(This is third of a series of dispatches by David Lawrence in which he gives a final survey of the situation in 20 states which he personally visited in ascertaining the trend of sentiment in the presidential campaign. In this dispatch the problem in the south is outlined and in the next the eastern section will be analyzed, to be followed by a final table of electoral votes and forecast of the congressional election.)

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—If some sections of the country resemble the 1916 campaign, the south has shown signs of approximating 1912. In the former, Woodrow Wilson broke the usual combination by winning the west and south and losing the east. In 1912 the Republican party was split, and the Democratic vote stood pat, thus giving the Democrats states they never had carried before and never have carried since.

The hope of the Republicans of carrying such states as Florida, North Carolina is not the usual figure of the Republican imagination. It is based upon the idea that the Democratic party will split in half and that the Republican party vote will be augmented by more than half of the Democrats. This is where the analogy with 1912 ends, however, for large groups of Democrats will not vote at all.

In a state like North Carolina, for example, where the Democratic majority in 1924 was about 92,000, the shift of 45,000 votes to the Hoover side would still leave the Democrats with a margin of 48,000 votes and even if 20,000 of that number stayed at home the electoral votes would be cast for Governor Smith.

EXCITED IS UNKNOWN

Nobody knows, of course, the exact extent of the shift in these southern states and all claims and counter-claims with respect to such states as Florida, Alabama and Texas are predicted on the theory that accurate information as to the percentage of bolting is available, which it is not.

Hence the only criterion is the ratio of doubt, which has worked out many times before in appraising political situations. It applies to Pennsylvania as it does to Texas. It is against a turn-over in a state preponderantly Republican or Democratic. Even Wisconsin in 1912 did not carry Pennsylvania.

The truth of the matter is that the Republican management has been impressed this year with the

FRENCH BOAT SEIZES 3 FISHING VESSELS

Leghorn, Italy—(AP)—A fleet of Italian fishing vessels refused to halt at the command of a French torpedo boat off Corsica and the French ships fired a warning shot and later contacted the vessels to the port of Bastia. It was thought Thursday that this incident might result in diplomatic exchanges.

The reports of the skippers of the motor boats Flutto, Chiesia, Fratelli and Mareca say they believed that they were in Italian territorial waters and heading for the Sardinian coast. Therefore, when ordered to halt, they continued on their course.

Hoover Off Today For Home City

Predicts Victory "If Those Who Believe With Us Go to the Polls"

BY JAMES L. WEST
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington—(AP)—Herbert Hoover sets out Thursday for California to await in the quiet of his home on the Stanford university campus at Palo Alto the decision of the people of the United States as to whether they will crown his career with the presidency.

High in the hope of victory, the nominee in his last public utterance in Washington, delivered to newspapermen who have been with him throughout the campaign, said Republican success was assured "if those who believe with us go to the polls."

As Hoover leaves here at 5 o'clock in the afternoon on the 3,000 mile campaign wing across the continent, he will carry with him the best wishes of President Coolidge, members of the cabinet and a host of Washington friends in and out of public life.

"Before leaving for the last time the spacious office from which for two months and more he has directed the vast army carrying the message of Republicanism to the people, the presidential candidate has arranged to call on President Coolidge at the White House and to say goodbye to those who have labored in Republican national headquarters nearby."

One of the last pronouncements to come from Hoover's own headquarters was that making public a letter from Secretary Mellon attesting that the nominee has made tax returns as an American citizen and paid taxes on those returns since the enactment of the income tax law in 1913.

This letter from the secretary of the treasury, which was addressed to James Francis Burke, general counsel for the national committee, was intended to set at rest reports assailing the American citizenship of the man who carries the hopes of the Republican party in a campaign that for intensity has been without parallel in recent political history.

Before he comes to the end of the trail in this, his greatest adventure in a long career marked by adventures in many climes, Hoover has some hard days and nights of campaigning ahead of him as he has determined that there shall be no let up in the fight until the very eve of the day the voters will register their will.

ADVERTISING MAN DIES AT HOME IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee—(AP)—James W. Fisk, 34, public relations director of a local advertising store and long prominent in advertising circles, died at his home here last Wednesday of a heart attack. Before accepting his post with the department store, Mr. Fisk had been merchandising counsel of the Milwaukee Journal and was active in association of commerce affairs. He came to Milwaukee from Green Bay. Mr. Fisk at one time was associate director of the school of business administration at the University of Wisconsin.

Anti-Catholic Attacks Are Alleged By Raskob

New York—(AP)—John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, charges that persons associated with the Republican party and its national committee are promoting attacks on Governor Smith because of his religion.

The accusation was made in a letter to Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican national committee. Mr. Raskob enclosed material upon which he based his charges. A copy of the letter and enclosures also was sent to Herbert Hoover.

The material included a photostatic copy of a letter purporting to have been written by Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire to "Hon. Zeb Vance Waiser, Lexington, Ky." and copies of affidavits by four persons who swore they had received through the mails or at Republican headquarters

LABOR, FARM CLAIMS OF FOE HIT BY SMITH

Governor Assails Borah and Hughes in Campaign Address in Newark

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer
New York—(AP)—With a dash into New Jersey where he criticized his Republican opposition for what he characterized as "fooling of the people" on all the big questions of the day, Governor Smith has wound up his campaign away from home.

From now until election day, he will concentrate his efforts on his home state of New York, with its 45 electoral votes.

Wednesday night Smith spoke at Newark, after having been acclaimed by thousands of torch-bearing well-wishers during his trip by automobile through Hoboken, Jersey City and other points enroute. He tore into the Republican campaigners in sarcastic fashion, particularly as to their arguments on labor and farm relief.

He attacked Hoover's speech made in the same army several weeks ago and assailed Charles Evans Hughes and Senator Borah, the men of whose names brought boos from the audience.

Hughes, he said, amid laughter, should have been the Republican candidate instead of Hoover because he was "doing more to elect the Republican president than the nominee himself."

He said Hoover had made an "exaggerated statement" when he declared in Newark that "real wages and standards of living of our labor have improved during the past seven and a half years of Republican rule than during any similar period in the history of our country." Credit for such conditions was given to Woodrow Wilson by the Democratic nominee.

After challenging figures from the opposition camp on unemployment and assailing the Republican plank on labor injunctions, Smith said his own program called for "necessary appropriation to the department of labor" to enable it to make adequate surveys on unemployment so "this question of veracity as between officials" will never arise again.

He said he was satisfied the American people was "not wedded to a policy of holding back public works in order to make a false showing of economy."

WANTS THOROUGH STUDY

Furthermore, he was "distinctly in favor of a thorough study of the methods of industry, the newly adopted methods of industry, so that we may be able to absorb the surplus labor that is released because of the introduction of modern machinery."

Smith termed the Republican plank on labor injunctions "meaningless" and "senseless," and said the Democrats had promised a definite remedy "by law" to end "existing evils."

As for farm relief, he said, the Republicans were in a "panic" and he attempted to prove this by relating how Governor McMullen, of Nebraska and Senator Borah had gone to Washington to "plead" with Hoover to favor an extra session of congress to deal with this question.

EDITOR OF BLUE BOOK SUCCEUMS AT MADISON

Madison—(AP)—Col. William J. Anderson, 73, a prominent resident of Madison for more than 30 years, died of the Madison General hospital Thursday morning following a short illness caused by pneumonia.

For the past six years he conducted the Anderson-Madison service, a news enterprise. He was editor of the 1928 Blue Book, a biennial volume giving information about the official activities of the state and the important functions of its government.

Bob Told Hoover Stand Similar To His Father's

Madison—(AP)—R. F. Yoakum, president of the Frisco railroad, in a letter to Senator Robert M. La Follette made public by the Republican national committee, said that Herbert Hoover's stand on farm relief is "just what your father proposed and what, if he were alive, I believe he would be advocating today."

"Hoover has pointed the plain path to farm relief along the same progressive lines your father indicated—farmer-owned, farmer-controlled marketing organizations. Smith, so far as he has proposed anything, suggests the very opposite—federal-controlled marketing, domination of a federal board, federal interference with the farmers' affairs; for that is just what the McNary-Haugen bill provides."

"Under such circumstances, it would seem that those who support Senator La Follette four years ago and all the true progressives, of whatever name or party, should throw their support to the man who represents his ideals and the best interests of the farmers of America, Herbert Hoover."

After outlining Hoover's and the elder La Follette's farm relief program, Mr. Yoakum declared to the young La Follette that "Mr. Hoover, as the record clearly shows, is much nearer your father's position on this question than you are in supporting the McNary-Haugen bill."

SCHMEDEMAN LOOKS FOR 500,000 VOTES

Managers Predict Victory—Candidate Discusses Money in Elections

Milwaukee—(AP)—The use of money in elections, a preservation by the state of its waterpower, are regarded by Mayor A. G. Schmiedeman, Democratic candidate for governor, as the major issues in the state campaign which will be decided at the polls next Tuesday.

While stating that "no candidate for public office is in a position to pass calm judgment upon the trend of public opinion," Mayor Schmiedeman, said Thursday in a statement, "my manager assures me that I will receive more than 500,000 votes."

"The use of money in elections is the one great overshadowing state issue in Wisconsin," said Mr. Schmiedeman. "The people have made it."

"Many declarations on various questions are found in the platforms of both political parties, but the people have made the expenditure of money in campaigns the paramount issue. With the exposures of corruption resulting from the investigation in Washington, it was but natural that many voters should express alarm at the great tendency to use large sums of money in elections."

"Closely associated with this issue in the minds of the people is the matter of taxation and particularly the preservation of the income tax law in a form that will be just and effective."

"Still another issue that the people have associated with the use of money in campaigns is the use of waterpower, and the prices charged by the public utility companies for the use of electric current."

BORAH PREPARING FOR BAY STATE INVASION

Baltimore—(AP)—The usually Republican state of Massachusetts, claimed in the present campaign by the Democratic leadership, was the objective Thursday of Senator William E. Borah of Idaho. He will speak in Boston Friday evening.

Wednesday night he spoke in behalf of Herbert Hoover before an enthusiastic audience which filled the 15,000 seat capacity of the Fifth Regiment armory.

The senator's speech covered most of the issues of the campaign and he injected a new declaration that if Hoover were elected president "we are to see a new era of peaceful negotiations" in the settlement of controversies between the United States and the Central American nations.

A cheering demonstration of several minutes followed the senator's declaration that "to transfer Tammany hall from New York to Washington would be a national disaster."

JOYOUS SPIRIT DESERTS STRIKERS BEHIND BARS

Milwaukee—(AP)—A honeymoon for two, and a lark for some, but for the majority of the 26 Allen-A strikers the house of correction is a drab reality Thursday.

The "college boy" spirit with which the strikers accepted the prospects of an indefinite stay in the house of correction vanished as they slipped behind the steel bars and were turned over to the guards.

Farewells at the prison gates were cut short as the 17 men and 2 women began to pay their liberty bond of $100 for civil contempt of court.

Leaving Kenosha early Wednesday morning, the strikers drove to Milwaukee in nine automobiles. Brought into a bus immediately after their arrival here to surrender, the strikers were hurried to the house of correction.

The fines which the men and women refused to pay and instead

FARMERS TOLD HOOVER WILL RELIEVE THEM

Senator Brookhart Says Smith Doesn't Know Agricultural Problems

Agriculture's only hope for a solution of its problem lies in the election of Herbert C. Hoover as president of the United States, Smith W. Brookhart, senior senator from Iowa, declared in a campaign address before about 700 people in Lawrence Memorial chapel Wednesday night.

"Governor Smith is impossible from the farmers' standpoint," the senator replied, "as he must first look through his mail and then decide what to do next. 'I'm not worrying about the future,' he said, adding that he did not intend to remain in Europe for any length of time. He expressed the hope that he would find an offer among the stack of mail and telegrams awaiting him which would enable him to return to the United States as soon as possible."

Terhune said that he had always "I place a place to eat and plenty of food during the transatlantic passage but that he had no place to sleep and had to lie down wherever he could find a spot that wasn't being used." He was a "flood of all work" aboard and was well treated by the crew and passengers alike.

Los Angeles—(AP)—An indictment against Asa Keyes, prominent district attorney of Los Angeles, charging "willful and corrupt conduct in office" was returned here Wednesday night by the county grand jury, which also filed an "accusation" in superior court demanding his removal from office.

The indictment charged that Keyes, who gained widespread publicity in the investigation of the Aimee McPherson disappearance case and in the conviction of William Edward Hickman, who was recently executed, had accepted money from several persons in exchange for dismissal of indictments against them, or failing in that, acquittal at the hands of juries.

One of the counts alleged that Keyes took $20,000 from Jacob Berman, alias Jack Bennett, in consummation of an alleged agreement by which Berman escaped conviction on charges growing out of the failure here last fall of the Julian Petroleum corporation for several million dollars.

The grand jury's accusation included the charge that Keyes conspired with Berman and E. H. Rosenberg and Jack Rosenberg to effect their acquittal of charges incurred in the collapse of the corporation in a secret stock tangle.

Secret indictments against an undisclosed number of other persons also were returned.

Bench warrants for the district attorney and for the other named in the indictments were issued last night. The grand jury recommended that Keyes be released on his own recognizance.

LOVE CULT CHIEF WILL LEAVE INSANE ASYLUM

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.—(AP)—"Brother" Charles Smith, who six months ago stirred the city with revelations of the operations of a love cult under the name of the House of God and who faced two serious criminal charges on warrants issued by Chief of Police Herbert L. White, will be discharged from the Newberry State Hospital for the Insane this week, it was learned Wednesday. Smith was committed to the asylum after a sanity commission found him mentally incompetent and possessing a religious mania.

BECK SAYS HE'LL VOTE FOR DEMOCRAT ON NOV. 6

Milwaukee—(AP)—Congressman Joseph D. Beck, Progressive Republican candidate for governor, defeated by Walter J. Kohler in the September election, declared Thursday in an interview that he would vote for Mayor Albert G. Schmiedeman, the Democratic candidate.

Congressman Beck, said that he felt there was no alternative for a Progressive, contending that the Republican nominee had been silent on the important matters in the state and failed to see government as a vehicle for public service.

Caddy Hero For Hiding On Zeppelin

Clarence Terhune Paraded Through German Streets by Crowds

Friedrichshafen, Germany—(AP)—Clarence Terhune, the irrepressible 13-year-old American stowaway on the air liner Graf Zeppelin, was given a triumphal reception by a cheering crowd in Friedrichshafen Thursday.

Clarence was smuggled out of one of the rear gondolas of the Zeppelin into the custody of police soon after the dirigible had landed and was taken to the hotel apartment of John F. Koehl, American consul, where a long private talk was held. When the young stowaway emerged from the hotel, cheering crowds raised him on their shoulders and paraded with him down the street.

Asked what he intended to do, he replied that he must first look through his mail and then decide what to do next. "I'm not worrying about the future," he said, adding that he did not intend to remain in Europe for any length of time. He expressed the hope that he would find an offer among the stack of mail and telegrams awaiting him which would enable him to return to the United States as soon as possible.

Terhune said that he had always "I place a place to eat and plenty of food during the transatlantic passage but that he had no place to sleep and had to lie down wherever he could find a spot that wasn't being used." He was a "flood of all work" aboard and was well treated by the crew and passengers alike.

MAY PLEAD INSANITY IN THRILL MURDERS

Alienist Visits Harsh and Gallogly in Their Jail Cells in South

Atlanta—(AP)—Insanity was a probable plea in defense of George Harsh and Richard Gallogly, wealthy college students who are accused of killing two victims in a series of holdups, as the defendants moved Thursday in secret on behalf of the youths.

Solicitor General John A. Boykin, who learned that Dr. Frank Eskridge, Atlanta alienist, had visited the two boys in their Fulton county jail cells, where they are awaiting trial under murder indictments, immediately announced that he would be prepared for insanity defense.

The solicitor, however, said he could not reveal what steps he was taking in that direction and would not reveal any more of the state's case against the two youths, one of whom has confessed that he killed E. H. Meeks, a grocery clerk, and Willard Smith, a drug store manager, in a series of seven holdups. Harsh, who made the confession after he had been traced through a pair of blood-stained trousers, said he shot the men and that Gallogly drove an automobile in which they drove away. Police said Gallogly had made a partial oral confession.

ATHEIST NO LONGER PATIENT IN HOSPITAL

Little Rock, Ark.—(AP)—Charles Smith, who started a hunger strike 17 days ago in jail here as a protest against his conviction of anti-atheist laws, was discharged Thursday as a city hospital patient, but remained in the hospital at his own expense. He told Dr. C. M. Brock, hospital superintendent, that he probably would start eating Thursday night.

Smith, who is president of the American Association for the Advancement of Atheism, and who claims he has not eaten since he was sent to jail and later transferred to the hospital, came here on campaign against an anti-atheist law to be voted upon Nov. 6. An unidentified person paid his fine Wednesday so that he does not have to serve the full 25 days of his sentence.

BADGER FUND CHARGES ARE CALLED 'ALL BUNK'

Beaver Dam—(AP)—Challenging his "former associates to produce the true campaign expense account of the Non-Partisan league when it endorsed Blaine for governor," C. J. Schmeidler, LaFollette delegate to the Kansas City convention, Thursday characterized as "all bunk" the "bunking about trying to buy the governor's chair."

NEW RECORD IS SET IN FLIGHT ACROSS OCEAN

Air Voyage of 4,000 Miles Made by Dirigible in 71 Hours, 12 Minutes

SHIP SAFE IN HANGAR

More Than Two Hours Required Before Zeppelin Is Brought to Earth

Friedrichshafen—(AP)—Having landed passengers and a stowaway from America, the Graf Zeppelin, huge air liner, was safe in her hangar Thursday with a new record for a transatlantic flight by airship to her credit.

The dirigible completed the first round trip commercial flight over the Atlantic Thursday morning when she was landed at Friedrichshafen at 7:06 (1.05 a. m. eastern standard time). She had covered more than 10,000 miles since starting from Friedrichshafen on Oct. 11 for Lakehurst, N. J. Since leaving Lakehurst at 1:54, eastern standard time, Monday morning the airship had covered slightly more than 4,000 miles and was landed after being in the air 71 hours and 12 minutes.

The British dirigible R-34 had the best previous record, being in the air 75 hours, before landing at her airbase in England in July, 1919, and completing a flight from Roosevelt field, N. Y.

Actually the Graf Zeppelin got home in 68 hours and 55 minutes. She first appeared over the air-drome at 4:50 a. m. (1:50 p. m. eastern standard time). For more than two hours the airship cruised around waiting for dawn to break. The lighting facilities being inadequate for a landing at night.

ASK FOR TERHUNE

A boisterous crowd which broke through police lines was eager to catch a glimpse of Clarence Terhune, the 13-year-old caddy, whose daring in stowing away aboard the airship had captured their imagination.

"Where's Terhune?" they kept yelling. "Let him come out," they implored. But what had happened to the youth was a mystery to the crowd that watched the arrival.

The passengers and crew had great difficulty in getting out of the hangar into which part of the crowd had made its way while thousands outside cheered and waved "Deutschland Uber Alles" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander and builder of the airship, asked to be excused from any reception formalities until 6 o'clock in the afternoon. He explained that he was thoroughly tired and needed a rest.

CROWD WAITS HOUR

An hour after the Graf Zeppelin had been berthed in the hangar the crowds which had been assembling since Wednesday began to disperse. The passengers and crew had left and the doors of the hangar were closed slowly on the largest airship ever built.

Bright lights shone from the cabin windows as the air liner sped low and fast from the northwest. As crowds cheered and bands played the Graf Zeppelin swept over the air-drome at 4:50 a. m. Allowing the eager throng but a brief glimpse of her great form, she passed rapidly out of sight.

A little later the airship appeared over Lake Constance. Church bells were pealing in welcome in the village and numerous search lights played on the silver-grey sides of the craft.

BREAKFAST AT FIELD

Realizing that the Zeppelin would have to wait two hours for the dawn before landing, the crowd began to think of breakfast. Sandwiches and thermos bottles appeared. As those on the ground ate and drank the airship swung over the air-drome. She flew so low that the passengers could be plainly seen at the lighted windows of the cabins. Light signals were flashed from the craft and her motors were idling.

All German, Austrian, Czech and Swiss broadcasting stations are hooked up with the microphone so that radio fans could listen in on the home-coming.

CHEESE FEDERATION
GATHERING WILL BE HELD ON SATURDAYMorning and Afternoon Sessions
Are Planned by Clintonville Men

Special to Post-Crescent
Clintonville—The second annual meeting of the Shawano branch of the National Cheese Producers' federation will be held at the Federation warehouse on Saturday, Nov. 3. Morning and afternoon sessions will be held as in previous years with a community lunch at noon.

Manager Emil Zorn, Director Charles Pichl and officers of the local warehouse company are working hard to bring out a good crowd.

In sending out notices the federation advised its members that the present year has in every way been the largest that the federation has even experienced. More cheese has been handled more cream has been received, more supplies have been sold, and the Federation is serving the industry in more ways than ever before.

Within the year the federation has opened a creamery at Dodgeville that is now manufacturing at the rate of half a million pounds of cheese and this year will market over a million pounds the product of 18 factories in Dane, Iowa and Wisconsin.

Going Up!
Nightly, now, her smile is winning new hearts all over America. She is lovely Corinne Burton, whose New York home is the New Weston Hotel. Her march to fame includes a season each in "The Music Box" and "The Scandal" and now, under Chas. Bowers' direction, she's going up in the movies!

"I don't believe in overlooking any point which may help make your presence pleasing," says Miss Burton. "Recently, I learned the method of caring for the hair, which is all the rage among New York girls, now. It's so easy. All you do is put a little Danderine on your brush every time you arrange your hair. It makes my hair so easy to dress and holds it in place wonderfully. It has gotten rid of my dandruff. It keeps my scalp and hair so clean and comfortable that I don't shampoo half as often as I used to. It gives my hair such a silky, soft and lustrous appearance that friends comment on it."

Danderine is not oily. It removes the dandruff from each strand of hair, restores its natural color, gives it new lustre. It dissolves dandruff, cleanses and invigorates the scalp. It is delightfully fragrant. All drug stores have the generous 25c bottles. Lovely, gleaming hair and a healthy scalp for a few cents.

What Dr. Caldwell Learned in 47 Years Practice

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly, and gently without gripping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Note special coupon offer:

BUILDING IN CITY TAKES SLUMP LAST MONTH OF $525,076

Authorized Projects for September Estimated to Cost $94,699

Building activity in Appleton slumped decidedly last month in comparison with August, according to the national monthly building survey prepared by S. W. Straus and Co. The estimated cost of projects authorized here in September totaled only $94,699, while the figures for August were $79,775, representing a difference of $25,076. The total for September, 1927, was $118,435.

Following is a detailed report of building activity in the principal Wisconsin cities:

Appleton	$ 94,699	$ 118,435	$ 579,775
Beloit	49,500	44,335	75,000
Bau Claire	104,800	111,275	92,085
Fond du Lac	137,635	127,255	62,315
Janesville	62,375	84,585	256,900
Kenosha	322,130	285,543
Madison	543,451	425,134	446,375
Mantowee	98,505	47,065	85,555
Milwaukee	4,071,925	3,019,052	5,065,190
No. Milwaukee	189,750	118,125	213,398
Oshkosh	84,564	115,419	148,467
Racine	466,661	1,532,065	302,025
Sheboygan	137,077	204,301	261,628
So. Milwaukee	96,900	75,925	82,900
Superior	40,430	140,337	43,005
Waukesha	219,633	165,548	252,215
Wausau	25,020	32,675	46,125
Whitfish Bay	288,050	240,820	245,045
West Allis	244,438	106,950	251,825
State Totals	$6,955,813	6,624,631	8,510,828

The figures for both South Milwaukee and Waukesha are approximately 15 per cent under valued, which amount should of course be added to arrive at the real cost.

Wisconsin ranks ninth among the 12 states leading in building activity, the report indicates. The leading states, number of cities in each of which reports are made, and the volume of permits, follows: New York, 42, $72,441,058; Illinois, 48, $38,862,022; California, 59, $23,066,337; Michigan, 19, $16,144,095; Ohio, 26, $14,032,277; Pennsylvania, 28, $13,959,532; New Jersey, 35, $10,601,081; Massachusetts, 25, $9,317,537; Wisconsin, 18, $6,955,813; Texas, 19, $6,830,051; Maryland, 8, $6,796,964; Indiana, 21, $6,701,500.

SMITH HAS EDGE IN SOLID SOUTH

possibilities of winning a toe-hold in the south for all time, extending its influence next to state tickets and organizations and thus really breaking down the Democratic party in the solid south. The Hoover forces have been so confident of winning northern states that their willingness to spend money in the south is explained partly on the ground that it will mean more in congressional and presidential elections next time. Conversely this is exactly the reason why the Democratic organizations in the doubtful southern states have rallied to the Smith cause. Many of them recognize the disaffection and antipathy toward Smith but they do not want to see the state political organizations invaded by northern Republican influence. Some of the political leaders of the south have been saying this. Their opponents among the anti-Smith people, inflamed with feeling toward Governor Smith, have not accepted it at face value, regarding it merely as a campaign argument. But with others it has been effective, especially as they have privately proclaimed their opposition to Smith but their recognition of the crisis the Democratic party faces in the south.

NO PERMANENT CHANGE
This correspondent is inclined to think that Republicanism will never be permanently embraced by all of the bolters and that the next election will see many of them back in the Democratic party notwithstanding the expenditure of funds by the Republicans; but the psychological influence of a bolting spirit will have a permanent effect nevertheless on the politics of the south, revealing itself hereafter in independent tickets and considerable bolting to the Republican party whenever financial support even for state contests can be obtained.

Should Governor Smith lose primarily because of a defection in the south, the situation in congress might conceivably be complicated because northern Democrats there are likely to be affected by the pressure of resentment in their districts and it would not be impossible for a northern Democratic bloc to be formed, with the southern Democratic party representing a floating group depending on western Republicans or northern Democrats for affecting their region. The only chance support on specific issues contradictory feature is that most of the southern members of congress have stayed regular and if the electoral vote stays in the Democratic column it will be largely through their efforts; so their influence should be correspondingly greater in the councils of the party and with their northern Democratic brethren.

For the first few weeks of the campaign and immediately after Houston, the drift toward Hoover in some of the southern states really alarmed the Democratic leaders. And then they began campaigning. Never since the Civil War have the Democrats struggled to retain the south cal leaders to form alliances with Negro groups in heavily Republican districts. Tammany has the problem of Negro aspirants for congress. It has always been possible for the Democrats to form a coalition with the Negroes in the north and bring out a few candidates to congress from the Negro race. Fear of reprisals from the south has been the chief preventive. If the south becomes Republican in large part, it may break down the influence that has hitherto kept the Negroes and Democratic organizations apart in the north.

All this part of the gospel of the campaign and far-fetched as much of it no doubt is, there is no way of telling what the Catholic Democrats and Republicans of the north may do in succeeding elections if Governor Smith should lose the solid south. It is truly a crisis for the south and the decision is a difficult one because the Republicans, with their traditional friendliness to the Negroes, bid for his support, have been far more interested hitherto in getting the large Negro vote that emigrated from the south to state like Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and New York than in actually seeking southern electoral votes by what is known as the "lily white" policy in appointments.

Out of this campaign may come the Negro voters as a vital balance of power in national elections and a status quo that has not been disturbed for generations with respect to the Negro, as he affects southern politics, may be altered for years to come. Hoover's chance of winning have for several weeks appeared better than Smith's, but the last two weeks have made the race closer. It is still possible though not probable that a few votes in a southern state may swing the election to or from Smith. The greater possibility is that the final vote in the south will have a profound influence on the future course of American politics irrespective of the outcome.

(Tomorrow's dispatch will give a survey of the eastern sea-board states)

FOX "ME, GANGSTER" TO BE SHOWN HERE

The Fox Film "Me, Gangster," based on the Charles Francis Coe serial in the Saturday Evening Post will open at the Elite Theatre Saturday, for a run of 2 days.

"Me, Gangster," essentially, is the off-told story of the boy who lacked parental influence, who was allowed to run wild in his boyhood days and who, naturally, traveled the wrong road in his adolescence and young

WORKS BOTH WAYS
Every effort made by the Republicans to assure the bolting Democrats of the south that Negroes would not be appointed to office by Hoover, has been heralded in northern states as a reason for Negroes to vote for Smith. And it so happens that from the viewpoint of party strategy there are more bolting Negroes in northern states where it might hurt the Hoover cause than there are bolting Democrats in southern states that can actually endanger the electoral vote. That's why there is a division of opinion now among Republican national managers as to the wisdom of the course pursued especially since many northern congressmen are dependent on Negro votes to pull them through every two years.

There is another possibility discussed among politicians. It is the tendency of northern Democratic in-

Manhood. More than all else, "Me, Gangster" is a warning to parents as to the training of their offspring. It was directed by Raoul Walsh.

Don Terry, playing a lead in his first motion picture, is said to be a revelation. June Collier gives a truly inspired portrayal, while the supporting cast is the finest ever assembled for one picture.

"Me, Gangster" is the last word in underworld pictures and 100 per cent vibrating drama.

Dreco Makes Her Well After 17 Years Suffering.

"I am so glad that Dreco made me well again that I want to tell everyone about it," said Mrs. Anna Punzenberger, 2217 N. 7th St., Sheboygan, Wis.

Mrs. Punzenberger

"I have been a victim of stomach trouble for the past 17 years and though I tried in every way to get relief I was unsuccessful. The food that I ate would sour and form gas and distress me so much that I hated for mealtime to approach.

"These stomach troubles, combined with constipation, weakened my whole system and here of late I have been troubled with headaches, pains in the back and other complaints.

"Dreco is the only thing that did me any good and since taking it I feel like I have a new stomach. My troubles are now over and my bowels are regular, the headaches and backaches have disappeared and I feel just like a different woman."

The Dreco mentioned above is a root and herb preparation of unusual merit. It is very effective in toning up the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and ending suffering and pain. Try it and you'll recommend it too. Sold by Schintz Bros. Drug Store and other leading druggists.

He invades Chinatown and gets into the middle of a tong war, with five hundred Oriental actors taking pot shots at him with machine guns. Outside of that nothing much happens to him except that he and Marceline Day fall in love, and a pretty romance runs through the rapid-fire comedy sequence.

Edward Sedgwick, director of "Tin Hats," "Slide, Kelly, Slide," and other comedy successes, directed the new picture, with Marceline Day as heroine, and H. Goodwyn Sydney Bracy, Harry Grubben, and others of note in the cast.

Much of the picture was taken in New York, as the company was there three weeks, filming the scenes in the offices of Mayor "Jimmy" Walker, in the Yankee Stadium, and the big street parades. Dozens of blocks of replicas of New York and Chinatown streets were also constructed at the studios for the big feature.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Raxall Orderlies attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuated bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

SIMPLICITY WILL MARK CORONATION OF NEW EMPEROR

Expect Ceremony at Kyoto, Japan on Nov. 10 Will Be Colorful Affair

Tokyo—(AP)—Oriental pageantry attending the enthronement of the new emperor of Japan will not detract from the ancient simplicity of the ceremonies when Hirohito, 124th in the direct line of the imperial family, is formally seated Nov. 10, at Kyoto, historic seat of the emperors. Color there will be and gorgeous trappings, gay banners, picturesque costumes handed down from dim centuries past; but the ceremonies, in their quiet solemnity and lack of ostentation, will typify the spirit of the occasion, celebrating not the accession of a new ruler to worldly glory and power, but the humble announcement of an anointed scion to illustrious forebears that he has accepted his heritage.

Standing before the shrine of his ancestors, laying his hands on the ancient symbols of Japanese imperial authority, the sacred Mirror, the Sword and the Jewels, he vows fidelity to the principles they exemplified—and so standing, himself sets an example of humility to his children of the land.

All Japan is athrob with anticipation of the great event, to be celebrated nearly two years after the emperor actually acceded to the throne on the death of his father, Yoshihito, in 1926.

There was the year of mourning, but since January 17, when the ceremony of reporting the date of enthronement before the Imperial Sanctuary in the Tokyo palace was conducted, other prescribed observances have been in progress, including the planting, February 5, of two fields of rice for the Daijosal, or Great Thanksgiving, one of the two main parts of the culminating festivities. The other principal celebration, Taipei, or Great Etiquette, formally opens when the emperor and empress leave Tokyo November 6, riding in solemn procession accompanied by the Imperial Sanctuary, containing the sacred symbols of authority, for Kyoto, the ancient capital.

At 10 o'clock November 10, the day of enthronement, the emperor and empress enter the Shinkyo Den, a temple within the Kyoto palace grounds. In long audience halls stand members of the royal family, court officials and representatives of foreign nations. Here the emperor worships beside the sacred sword and the sacred jewels and reads a proclamation to the Spirit of Amaterasu-Omikami, sun-goddess progenitor of the imperial house.

In the afternoon the emperor goes to the ceremonial hall, Shushin Den, mounts the black lacquer throne, curtained in rich brocades and crowned with a gilded phoenix. In the white-sanded courtyard, lined by gay and richly embroidered symbolic banners, stand members of the royal guard in ancient court apparel, gong players, drummers.

The crowds without await eagerly, for the moment of enthronement is at hand. The emperor rises and announces his accession. The prime minister, reading a congratulatory address, concludes with the salutatory cheer: "Banzai! Banzai! Banzai!" Outside, the crowds know that the enthronement is complete and joyous cries of "Banzai!" resound, spreading over the city, to be echoed

Y. M. C. A. DORMITORY MEN ORGANIZE CLUB

A club entitled the Chicago Society club, composed of dormitory men of the Y. M. C. A., has been organized here and is headed by Arthur Dahl, president. The club meets twice a month on Tuesday evenings, and has about 20 charter members. Arnold Glasgow is secretary. A meeting and dinner will be held at 6:30 next Tuesday evening at the Hotel Menasha, according to Mr. Dahl.

and re-echoed until the glad news has traveled over all the island.

After three more days of ceremonies in which ancestors are honored, begins the Daijosal, or Great Thanksgiving, November 14. This is a ceremony of purification as well as of thanksgiving and is accompanied by further picturesque ceremonial.

On November 16 begins the first state banquet in the gorgeous Nijo palace. For the next two days there is feasting and music and the ancient court dances of Japan are danced.

The ceremonies are concluded when the emperor visits the Grand Shrine of Ise and the mausolea of the first and the latest emperors.

The pilgrimage requires five days. And then—the return to Tokyo, with the prayers of his people, expressed in the national anthem, still echoing: "A thousand years of happy life be thine!"

Live on, my Lord, till what are pebbles now, By age united, to great rocks shall grow, Whose venerable sides the moss doth line."

KOHLER CHARGES CONSPIRACY TO CONFUSE VOTERS

Nominee Says Opposition Tried to Confuse People About Expenditures

Milwaukee—(AP)—That there has been a "systematic conspiracy" to confuse Wisconsin voters as to his campaign expenditures was the charge made by Walter J. Kohler, Republican candidate for governor, in an address here Wednesday night.

"I have learned that anyone, no matter how fanatically partisan or how without reputation he may be, can make wild and unsubstantiated charges against a candidate for public office," Mr. Kohler said in referring to "professional politicians," whom he said have directed a "flood of political propaganda and deliberate misrepresentation" against him.

He explained his position as: "First of all, let it be clearly understood that I spent less than $2,800 during the primary campaign, or about $1,200 less than I was allowed to spend under the law."

"The money which was disbursed by committees, clubs, and individuals, and which has been reported as totaling about $100,000, was not spent at my request or under my direction. I had nothing to do with it."

These expenditures, Mr. Kohler said were in behalf of the state Republican ticket that had no previous political publicity, held no political offices and possessed no political machine, in a contest with a "strongly entrenched and powerful oligarchy ## which has monopolized public office in Wisconsin for many years."

As to excessiveness of the amount, the speaker said, an average of $83,000 plus the amounts spent by voluntary organizations is being spent in each state by the Democratic and Republican parties in support of presidential candidates.

"Secretary of State Damann, has estimated there are 1,500,000 voters in Wisconsin," the candidate said. "If each received literature, which with the postage cost seven cents, the total cost would be $105,000, the amount claimed to have been expended in this state in behalf of all our state and congressional candidates."

It was spent, Mr. Kohler explained, solely to inform the voters and not to corrupt them.

"The Republican platform pledges, and as Governor I shall instigate, an investigation into campaign expenditures, but it will be aimed, not ## at one candidate, but at the whole truth as to any evasions of the Corrupt Practices Act in this and the two preceding state campaigns," he said.

The great issue before the state, the speaker claimed, today is that Wisconsin must have a business-like administration of state affairs for the benefit of all the people, and there must be an end of political quackery.

GENERAL MITCHELL TO TALK AT GREEN BAY

Green Bay—(AP)—A wind-up mass meeting will close the Al Smith for President activities in Brown-co and the surrounding territory. The community auditorium has been secured for the meeting which on Friday night, Nov. 2 and Gen. William Mitchell, dismissed as chief of the air service because of his criticism of the administration's aviation policy and Colonel F. Ryan Duffy, former National Vice commander of the American Legion, are the speakers.

The American Legion band will play a concert, amplifiers will be installed to take care of the overflow crowd and the address will be broadcasted to the northern counties from WBBT, the Green Bay station.

Membership in the Al Smith club in Brown county is claimed by Club sponsors to exceed 7,000.

FRENCH ARMY CLINGS TO CAVALRY DEFENSE

Paris—Extensive cavalry action in future warfare was forecast in the French army's fall maneuvers in the Rhineland.

Cavalry is one of the principal problems occupying the attention of army chiefs. They point out that complete ignorance prevails on this branch of defense and about many other tactical questions, because the last great struggle was a war of trenches.

General Guillaumat, commander-in-chief of the French Rhine army, under whose general direction the maneuvers took place, said that if they had not permitted a complete solution of the problem, they had, at least, taught valuable lessons.

"The difficulty in the employment of cavalry divisions," said the general, reviewing the operations, "lies in the great variety of elements of which they are made up, some mounted, others on foot, yet others on wheels, with the complication of automobiles and caterpillar tractors. We succeeded in getting all that under way to a sufficient point to bring out the advantages and disadvantages."

They Said the Same Things About Lincoln

Who did? The snobs of 1860. They laughed at Lincoln because he came from the PEOPLE. They sneered: "Imagine the LINCOLNS in the White House."

But the people stood by Abraham Lincoln. The solid citizens. The bread-winners. The pioneers. The plain folks. The MAJORITY. They loved and understood Lincoln. And they elected and re-elected him their president. Today we say: "Imagine the loss to our country if Lincoln had NOT gone to the White House!"

History is repeating itself in 1928. We are now engaged in another such campaign. We have an opportunity to support another great humanitarian born of the people. The millions who think and speak affectionately of "Al" Smith must meet the same attacks the supporters of "Abe" Lincoln met so successfully.

ALFRED E. SMITH
"THE HAPPY WARRIOR"

Alfred E. Smith has proved that he is a courageous leader, a Democrat, not Bureaucrat.

The public wants a leader—not a follower—in the White House.

The public wants a man who can sway other men and get the results the country needs.

Alfred E. Smith, even with a legislature of opposite political faith to deal with, has proved that he can put through needed legislation.

"Al" Smith is gaining day by day as people recognize his greatness and warm to his attractive personality and friendliness.

Vote for Smith, who is as frank and genuine in his public as in his family life—who has the gift of plain and courageous speech—who is a fearless leader always.

This country needs a President who knows the importance of the well-being of ALL the people—not just a privileged few Alfred E. Smith as Governor secured the passage of laws that safeguard women and children and promote the health and comfort of workers.

Isn't that the kind of a President YOU want? The country has had enough of buncombe in high office. It wants to know WHAT a man THINKS, HOW he will ACT, and whose interest he will serve if elected to the Presidency.

THIS IS WHAT IOWA FARMERS THINK OF "THEIR OWN" SENATOR

IOWA FARMERS BOO BROOKHART: SHOUT FOR SMITH
Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 20 — (Special)—Delegates to the Iowa Farmers' union convention this afternoon adopted resolutions tacitly informing Gov. Al Smith for President and condemning Herbert Hoover.

When the resolution had been adopted unanimously the delegates sang "The Star-Spangled Banner" and a half address by Senator Brookhart in the hall, in which he outlined his reasons for supporting Brookhart in the present campaign.

The union, Milo Reno, to justify his action in supporting the Republican nominee.

When the convention opened his explanation and rose to his feet to sing the battle hymn of the Democrats, Brookhart left the hall.

The resolutions, which declared that the Iowa Farmers' union agreed with the resolutions of the corn belt committee adopted Aug. 21, concluded by declaring that no farmer should vote for Hoover.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

SYBIL THORNE, beautiful and reckless, became engaged to CRAIG NEWHALL, who is quite all that a young man should be, in order to please her father, who she worshipped. But Mr. Thorne died before she could tell him. Shortly afterward her brother TAD, married VALERIE WEST, selfish and frivolous but inordinately pretty.

Sybil goes to Wianno to open the family's summer place for the homecoming of the newly-weds. And at night she wanders alone to the beach where JOHN LAWRENCE, the man she still loves, first kissed her. It was shortly after that glorious night that John went away to war and never returned.

Craig finds her there, trying with the dead. They talk of love and life and Craig urges her to marry him. She tells him she cannot make any decision because her life is so full of perplexities and she asks if he would mind if she went away with MAUREL BLAKE, to think things over. They have planned to go to Cuba together, but Sybil assures Craig that she will not go unless he is willing.

"The devil you won't!" he retorts. "You'll do whatever you want—and you darn well know it."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER X

"Don't buy a stitch," counseled Mabel. "The shops in Havana are next to Paris. You can buy importations for a song."

Their factious friends besieged them with importunities to "bring some liquor."

Valerie wanted a Spanish shawl, white, or cream-colored, spotted all over with roses and awfully vampy looking. And "a pair of Spanish pumps with red heels."

Mrs. West had heard that Cuba was a wonderful place to buy linens. She hinted largely for a luncheon cover and suggested that Valerie's collection be supplemented by a few pieces that Sybil could surely pick up reasonably.

Tad shoved a handful of bills in his sister's bag.

"For Val's shawl and things," he explained.

"See here, Tad," exploded Sybil, "you can't afford to trick that wife of yours out like a circus rider. Lord the girl got clothes enough in Paris to last her a year."

"Gosh, Sib you don't think I'm going to be a piker with Val, do you? What's a couple of hundred dollars, for Pete's sake!"

"It's a couple of hundred that you can't afford to spend, Tad Thorne—and you know it."

"What's the difference?"

"Val's dreadfully spoiled, Tad, and you're pampering her like a baby. What does she think you are?"

"Lay off Valerie, will you, Sybil?" Tad spoke sharply.

"Oh, all right. It's your funeral."

Quick tears sprang to Sybil's eyes. It was so tragically easy to cry those days. When people were sharp with her, or very tender, she felt the same absurd impulse to weep. Now she stooped to the roses on the library table, ashamed to let Tad see her foolish tears. She was idiotically jealous of Valerie. Hurt, like a child, because Tad championed his bride against her.

"Gee, Tad, I'm touchy. I didn't mean to pop off like that."

His arm across her shoulders made things right.

"You're shot to pieces, Sis. All tired out. This trip's going to be just the thing for you. Wish to the Lord I was going along."

"You could if you weren't married..."

She could have bitten her tongue off when the words were out. The door had opened and Valerie was with them.

"So that's the way you feel about it, is it? I always knew you didn't like me, Sybil Thorne. I knew from the beginning that you were a hateful old thing. Nice to my face—Oh, of all the mean, horrid things! Trying to come between Tad and me. Oh! Oh!"

Valerie's voice broke on high and she ran, crying wildly, from the room.

"And you, too, Tad Thorne! You're just as bad as she is. Oh—oh—I want my mother!"

Tad was after her in a bound.

"Baby, baby..."

Sybil could hear him as he caught her on the stairs. "Well, well, you poor little thing..."

Valerie's sobs were smothered in his arms. "Poor little baby."

He carried her to his room, the room they shared together now. "Darnation!" said Sybil.

It was quite exciting, getting away. Valerie pleaded a headache and stayed at home.

"Good is good," murmured Sybil, piously, when she saw Mrs. Thorne bustling upstairs with the aspirin and an ice bag.

But Tad was at the boat with a corsage for each of the girls and a great box of candy.

"From Val," he said. "She was awfully sorry she couldn't get down."

"Liar," said Sybil and kissed him affectionately.

Craig had filled their stateroom with roses and came bearing exotic fruits.

The girls at the society where Mabel worked had given her a camera and a portmanteau.

"Saints above!" cried Sybil when she saw them. "Now everybody'll know we're a couple of old maids!"

There was a great deal of kissing and a little weeping. Mrs. Thorne, fussing with last-minute regrets, was afraid it wasn't just right "letting Sybil go off like this." Mabel Blake's aunt warned them to beware of strangers and the Cuban lotteries.

"Goodby, Goodby... Be good... Don't forget my perfume. Black narcissus, you know... Be sure you look for linens... Goodby, Goodby."

At last they were off—all but Craig.

"Hurry, dear—they're pulling up the gang plank."

"One more kiss, Sybil... Oh, my dear, I love you."

Craig, darling—HURRY!"

Mab was on deck, calling to the others from the rail. Excitedly, they were clamoring for Craig.

"Where is that boy! Sakes alive, he'll get taken away, sure as you're a foot high. CRAIG! CRAIG!"

"A REAL one, dearest... Ah! I'll flock of them when I get home again. Now run, you crazy nut."

"Craigie, you look as if you'd lost your last friend!"

"Do you believe in hunches, Sib?"

"No, darling, I don't. But I've got a powerful good one that you'll be on your way to Havana if you don't clear out of here."

"I've a dreadful feeling that this is really goodby, Sybil, look at me. You know I'm crazy about you. And that goes, whatever happens. Don't forget, Sib."

"My dear," Mab told her later, Craig made that dock by half an inch. I never saw anything like it in all my life. The prettiest jump you ever laid your eyes on. That boy sure is an athlete. Some girls have all the luck."

She looked at Sybil appraisingly.

"I don't believe you're a bit in love with him, either. And I know girls who'd give their right eye for him. It's a funny old world."

"You said it," conceded Sybil, laconically.

They had their deck chairs moved under the awnings, and appraised their fellow passengers interestedly.

"Anybody look good to you?" Mab wanted to know.

Sybil clicked them off on her fingers.

"Mrs. Jones and daughter, Alice, traveling. I take it, for Alice's health. Miss Jane Wiggins, from Wellesley, and route for tropics to gather material for something or other. Horribly academic. Mrs. Horace Parkins on her way to Panama to visit her married daughter, Helen."

"She's knitting a baby's jacket over there, next the minister. That's Mr. Winsor, with the Roman collar. There's a priest aboard, too—I don't know his name."

"There are three sisters named Corrales, from Havana. They've been in the States at school and are going home for vacation... Beautiful girls. The missing ones are probably having a drink. I take it we're three miles out. One of them's sort of fat. He had a cap on when I saw him, but I could tell to look at him he's getting bald. He wears a diamond stickpin, and he has high blood pressure. The older one is tall and thin."

Mabel sighed. "It looks," she opined, "like an uneventful trip."

"That's all right," by me," Sybil stretched comfortably. "I'm not hunching for excitement."

"Well, I am. How old are you, Sybil?"

"Almost 23."

"Oh, you're young yet. I thought you were older."

"I am, inside. I look older, I know."

"Well, I'm 34."

"Honestly, Mab? You don't look it."

"You know darn well I am. Mart-on Forbes told you last week at Claire's bridge. And I happened to hear you say I looked older than that."

"My job's wracking, Sybil. And, upon my word, social workers are the darndest pack of sour old hens I ever laid my eyes on. We talk a lot about independence and pretend we pity the married ones. But believe me, there isn't one of us wouldn't be there ourselves if we got the chance."

"Living in furnished rooms, hanging onto car straps, eating in cafeterias, doing our laundry in the bathroom. And we say we wouldn't swap our independence for a nice, loving meal ticket! Give me a good provider and a few kids—and the rest of them can have their independence."

"I'm a man-hunting female. And the only difference between me and the rest of them is I'm honest—and they're not. Any time you see a good-looking man glancing my way, clear the decks for action. For Mabel'll get him if he don't watch out."

Sybil yawned luxuriantly. "You make me tired, Mab. I'm going to sleep."

But Mab would not be silenced. "Look, Sib," she whispered, "over

65 WILL ATTEND SCOUT MEETING

Expect Troop Committee-men from Valley at Training Session Here

It is expected approximately 65 troop committeemen of the valley council of boy scouts will attend the one night training session at the Odd Fellows hall, Thursday, Nov. 15, according to E. A. Killonen, chairman of the court of honor committee. The program will open with a dinner at 6:30 in the evening which is to be served by the boy scouts.

The purpose of the session is to acquaint new troop committeemen with the methods of conducting courts of honor for their individual troops. The session part of the new court of honor plan in which individual troops will conduct their own reviews. Formerly, all troops combined and were examined by the board of review. Now courts of honor may be conducted at any time designated by the troop committee.

The men will receive instruction in methods of counseling with senior patrol leaders in presenting examinations for boy scouts. They also will receive instruction in the various points considered in awarding merit badges for advanced work.

There by the rail! Is that man looking at me or am I having hallucinations?"

Mabel meets her man in the next chapter. Then along comes Sybil.

Parisians who are wearing the new color, "fudge," have their make-up to match.

SATURDAY'S GAMES
Manitowoc at Appleton.
East Green Bay at Sheboygan.
Fond du Lac at Oshkosh.
West Green Bay at Marinette.

Only two teams lead the Fox River Valley football league this week and perhaps there'll be only one when Saturday's battles are over. The games of greatest interest will be Appleton-Manitowoc game on Whiting field and the East Green Bay game at Sheboygan.

Unless the dope bucket gets a terrible wallop, East Green Bay will be at the top when reports are tabulated late Saturday afternoon. Sheboygan probably will offer the Bays little opposition and the Red Devils should run up a large score unless Coach Wiley elects to use substitutes during the battle.

Many fans are giving the high school edge over Manitowoc because of the Orange showing against Oshkosh last week. However, the locals have a slightly different situation Saturday for they'll battle eleven men rather than a single player. Too, they have been drilled for end runs which are comparatively easy to stop if tackles and ends are placed right, while on Saturday they'll have to stop a premier line plunger in Galbraith, giant Manitowoc fullback.

Overconfidence also is an enemy the Orange will have to beat Saturday. Unfortunately a greater part of the Appleton squad is temperamentally constituted so they become rather cocky about their abilities. They felt pretty good the early part of the season but finally came down to earth the week before the Oshkosh game.

Fond du Lac will try to repeat Appleton's performance against Oshkosh Saturday and may be able to do so successfully. Until Fondy stops Tadych, however, Oshkosh is given an edge. West Green Bay and Marinette meet at Marinette in the only other game of the day with the northern prime favorites.

BLOOMER TRIES TO WORK WITH VIKES

Injured Leg Doesn't Seem to Have Any Strength He Tells Coach

Franny Bloomer was out on Whiting field Wednesday evening limbering up and trying to get his leg to carry him about. However, he was almost a pathetic figure as he tried to put weight on the injured member and after the workout told Coach Rasmussen, the injured leg didn't seem to have any strength.

An x-ray of the leg was taken Tuesday but the plate shows no breaks and coaches are at a loss to figure out why the injury doesn't heal. All indications are that Bloomer is through for Saturday's game and perhaps won't see action until the Northwestern battle or even the Carroll game, the last of the season.

A long scrimmage between the varsity and freshman teams was the main thing in Wednesday's practice, as Coach Rasmussen continued to search for his quarterback for Saturday. McInnis and Barnes were calling signals throughout the evening at Razz put them in theoretical situations to see what plays they'd call.

Practice Wednesday showed another man missing from the squad, Schellmer, tackle. He was reported as out of school Wednesday and rumors were that he had injured his knee. He was out of football in his freshman year because of a serious knee injury and underwent an operation to have the injury corrected.

JUST ABOUT SAME WEIGHT
When Iowa and Minnesota met this year their team weight was approximately the same. Iowa averaged 184 pounds, while Minnesota averaged 183 pounds. Their backfields varied one-half pound.

Harry Gamage, football coach at Kentucky, is only 26 years old.

Storms Brewing For Champion Grid Teams

New York—(AP)—Football championship aspirants, sectional or national, that have taken bid in October face the prospect of a killing frost, if not a few destructive blizzards from opposition territory in November.

The array of college elevens having little hopes of nationwide concern as they enter the final month of gridiron campaigning, headed for the storm areas, has dwindled to a select dozen or so of hardy aggregations.

They can't all weather the big blasts of November but among the foremost are West Point, New York University, Georgetown, and Carnegie in the east; Tennessee, Vanderbilt and Georgia Tech in the south; Nebraska, Iowa, Ohio State and Illinois in the middle west; Utah in the rugged Rocky Mountain area; and Stanford on the Pacific coast.

At it happens there are any number of low pressure areas ahead of most, if not all of these outfits. It is pretty well known that the unbeaten Army eleven faces a succession of

Wilce And Ingwersen Having Good Seasons

Ohio Leader Can Call Season Complete If He Downs Princeton

Chicago—(AP)—It begins to look as though the two "under fire" football coaches of the Big Ten, Burt Ingwersen of Iowa and Dr. Jack Wilce of Ohio State, can keep their jobs next season—if they want them.

Student and alumni criticism, which flared with such fury against the two at the same time last year when their eleven were door mats of the western conference, has changed to praise with the tide of football fortune and now are riding on what appears to be their highest crest of popularity.

Last Saturday Ingwersen picked a dramatic setting—the largest homecoming crowd in Iowa's history to show his critics that he knew what he was doing by directing his team to a glorious victory over Minnesota's great team. This Saturday, Wilce, who has announced this is his last season as football coach, gets his big chance when the undefeated Princeton Tiger invades Ohio stadium. A victory for Ohio will place the team high in the race for national honors.

So improved and free from injuries are Wilce's men that they are heavy favorites to twist the Tiger's tail.

Princeton's big squad was to depart for Columbus Thursday night for its first western invasion since 1922.

Forward passes are receiving the bulk of attention in the various big ten training camps this week. Ever since Wisconsin made so much headway by passing in the Purdue game, Oct. 20, passes have been stressed and especially by the underdogs of Saturday's contest—Michigan, Chicago and Northwestern.

Bob Zuppke, whose champion Illinois team meets Michigan in the only important conference clash of the day, is moulding a defense against the aerial attack and Michigan is perfecting it. Northwestern realizes it cannot make much ground through Minnesota's line and will depend on its offense while Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg's crippled Chicago team hopes to upset Pennsylvania's team.

Latest developments from Minnesota center around the ground gaining ability of Paul Kirk, a triple threat artist, who may beat Win Bookmeyer out of a halfback position in the Northwestern game. Bronko Nagurski, thundering fullback, and Duke Johnson, tackle, seem definitely out of the game because of injuries.

Northwestern has been forced to shift its line because of the illness of Harry Kent, veteran tackle; Chicago is looking for two tackles and a quarterback; Wisconsin is trying without much success to stop Alabama's passing game as used by the freshmen. Oran Pape, who romped through Minnesota for a dramatic touchdown Saturday, and Thomas have replaced Mayes McLain as regulars in Iowa's lineup, and Purdue and Indiana are taking things easy.

TIDE'S PASSES ARE WORRYING BADGERS

Freshmen Gain Consistently via Alabama's Aerial Route

Madison—(AP)—Passes, Wisconsin's old-fashioned spell-binder—have made the Badgers apprehensive.

Not their own attack, for its lusty enough, but the attack that scouts report the University of Alabama as using has frightened the Wisconsin defense. For the second successive practice, the Badgers worked on a defense against the Crimson Tide's offensive machine. With the freshmen imitating the Southern, the Badgers stopped the off slashes for which Alabama is famous, but were dizzily bewildered by the overhead game and the yearlings completed a high percentage of their passes.

Two more "B" team players were sent to the varsity squad Wednesday night, F. Lutz, a fullback and Erwin, a giant tackle.

On the reserve practice field Coach L. V. Uteritz was working his undefeated B team for their game with Northwestern college Friday. The Gossings are reported weak but Uteritz said he would take no chances.

Alabama will arrive in Madison Friday noon, work out in Randall stadium in the afternoon and then enter into action until game time Saturday afternoon. Twenty men are said to be making the trip.

blustery afternoons against such teams as Notre Dame, Nebraska and Stanford before the final returns are tabulated on the cadet championship claims.

All that Stanford has to do in order to come clear for the Army battle with Southern California this Saturday and then mop up Santa Clara, Washington and California.

If there are any "soft spots" there, Pop Warner's men would like to know about it.

MICHIGAN TO USE HALFBACK'S PLAY IN ILLINOIS GAME

Ann Arbor, Mich.—(AP)—Injuries have forced Del Whittle, Michigan's star halfback, out of the coming Illinois game, but his spirit and football cunning will be there.

Whittle, a Chicago youth, has evolved a secret football play. In practice it has been so successful that Coach Tad Wieman plans to use it against the Illini.

ST. JOSEPH ELEVEN HAS HARD WORKOUT

Boys Try to Correct Outstanding Faults in Sunday's Game

Some one will be in for a hard afternoon next Sunday when St. Joseph Junior high gridlers meet Cathedral Junior high of Green Bay on the local field. Wednesday evening the local aggregation went through a long practice of strictly fundamentals and if they don't forget some of their information by next Sunday, should put up a royal battle.

Max Schiedermayer, husky tackle, who does the punting for St. Joe learned to eliminate a half dozen steps he has been in the habit of taking, and incidentally got his boots off quicker and they carried farther. He also practiced hurting a few passes.

Coach Mel Heinrich also drilled his backs a long while on cutting. Last week the parochial ball carriers attempted to outrun their opponents whereas, if they had cut back a couple times they'd have scored easily. A bit of side stepping also came in to the evening's drill.

Lineman and blockers on the team spent three quarters of an hour learning how to block and naturally to evade a blocker. The junior high youngsters don't have a dummy for their blocking tactics and of necessity must try their stuff on each other.

A long drill in charging and general line tactics completed the evening's work. The boys probably will run through signal practice Thursday evening and perhaps will be given a taste of scrimmage.

MINER FULLBACK NO COLLEGE GRAD

Tony LaTone Is Graduate of Mines and College of Hard Knocks

Green Bay—Knute Rockne, the "Bald Eagle" of Notre Dame is not the only football celebrity whose pate is as free from hair as the well-known billiard ball for the Pottsville football team of the National league boasts of one as well in the person of Tony LaTone, a native product of the Pennsylvania coal regions and one of the best backs in professional circles today. Pottsville will play the Packers here Sunday at the local stadium and gives Packers followers an opportunity to see in action for the first time a team which they have always wished to see since Pottsville inflicted a stinging 31 to 0 defeat on the Big Bay Blues away back in 1925.

But getting back to this LaTone person. Here is one gridder who boasts of no college education. Tony's education consisted of about 4 grades in some obscure grammar school's work. The boy probably was a lot of good hard knocks in facing the world after leaving school. Tony learned football in the same way he learned to do other things and that is by real intimate contact with the hard knocks which go along with learning the game. But suffice to say LaTone learned the game and learned it well for he rates as the most ferocious line plunger in the league and without a peer as a tackling backfielder and blocker. It was the work of this fellow more than any other which helped wallop the Packers' three years ago.

And on this same Pottsville team is another of the game's greatest. He is "Pete" Henry and no other authority than John Heisman who is writing a series of articles for Colliers rates Henry as the greatest tackle of all times. Heisman is one of the greatest coaches in the country. And then there is Herb Stein who just a few years ago became famous at Pittsburgh for his great work at center. And Joe Rooney, who played with Duluth for several seasons is at one of the ends and he needs no introduction to local fans. Another former Duluth player is Kieseling who worked in the Eskimos line at either guard or tackle. There are not the only ones in the invaders' aggregation for every one of the team rates as a star but the entire group takes pride in the fact that they are a team and function as such and not as a lot of individuals and it is this team work that makes Pottsville one of the most feared elevens in the entire league.

BEST BACKS IN SOUTH

Among the substitutes Huber came from Georgia. Agassies, Walsh from Wisconsin. Gibner from Stanford. Fulton from Minnesota. Piper from Rose Poly, and Marshall from Pennsylvania.

But on the regular starting team you will find Carlmark from Moline High School, Hall from McAlister H. S., Dibb from Jordan H. S., Perry from Bethel Prep, Messenger from New York Military Academy, and O'Keefe from Duff Prep.

Twenty-nine of the 41 players on the squad went to the Point from high schools and preparatory schools.

DARTMOUTH'S SPECIAL DELIVERY BOY

AL MARSTERS OF DARTMOUTH

AGAINST CORNELL LAST YEAR MARSTERS TOSSED 14 COMPLETED PASSES, FOUR OF WHICH RESULTED IN TOUCHDOWNS....

BY BOB MATHERNE
DURING those years when Red Grange was doing his famous galloping for Illinois, the task of selecting a couple of halfbacks to attach the All-America tag to was relatively simple.

The job was 50 per cent easier than it has been since he deserted the Illinois campus. When about to pick an All-America squad in those days, one automatically started with the halfback berths and immediately dropped the name Grange at one spot. One-eleventh of the job was done. Perhaps, two-elevenths, for the other halfback really didn't matter.

Since those days, the job of placing All-America captions on just two halfbacks has been hard and it seems to be getting harder each year. The 1926 selections were not easily made. Perhaps Morton Kaer of Southern California was a favorite with the majority of experts, but making a decision from the rest of the field was rather difficult. Some liked Baker of Northwestern, Bogue of Stanford, Wilcox of Purdue, Kelly of Montana and Wilson of Lafayette just as much as Kaer.

Even in 1927, when Gibby Welch of Penn. could run away with practically all the nominations, the job involved some discretion. Marsters of Dartmouth, Flanagan of Notre Dame, Presnell of Nebraska and a flock of others had their particular boosters. The job, in fact, necessitated a lot of thinking and note-taking.

This year, thanks to Al Marsters at Dartmouth, the task seems to be as easy as during the good old days of Red Grange.

Marsters, to be sure, is not certain of being chosen All-America, unanimously, but who, may we ask, is any more certain of a berth on that All-America squad than the big galloper of the Green?

This is just mid-season and all predictions haven't been heard from in this race, but some of the good halfbacks around include Garvey of Yale, Mikel of Georgia Tech, Carroll of Washington, Welch of Purdue, Brazil of Detroit, Sagle of the Army—and, well, lots of them. But Mr. Marsters seems to have just a bit of an edge on these ball carriers, unless it is that Cagle fellow.

Many eastern critics will tell you that Marsters isn't far behind Red Grange as a ball carrier today. They even mention him in the same breath with Gipp, Kaw, McMillan, Slagle, Mahan and any other back you care to name. They say he can slip along the sidelines faster and straighter than any man ever did. And that isn't all, if you just will listen to them.

Marsters was only a sophomore last year and of all the good sophomores back that pranced about last year he was as good as any of them. Perhaps, the best.

Against Yale, he ran 75 yards just inside the sidelines. He ran 80 yards in one game from an off-tackle play for a touchdown. He threw 14 completed passes against Cornell, four of which meant touchdowns.

Marsters ran his way last year into the nickname "Special Delivery." It may mean any of many things, but the Dartmouth it means he gives prompt delivery on touchdowns.

His work this season has been just as sensational as it was last year. The Dartmouth attack is built around him and Dartmouth, has shown tremendous offensive power when Marsters was in there and not physically handicapped.

FONDY TRIMS "Y" VOLLEYBALLERS

Addition of Remley and Neller to Lineup Fails to Halt Invaders

The Fond du Lac Y. M. C. A. volleyball team made good its threat to defeat the local "Y" aggregation and copped four of five games on the local floor, Tuesday night. The Jensen men dropped the first three matches by scores of 15 to 11, but in the third frame they rallied and managed to turn the tables. In the fifth match they were defeated 15 to 12.

Things looked hopeful for the locals with two veterans, Neller and Remley, back in the line-up, but the Fondy men were a bit too fast. The first three matches were somewhat slow and both teams managed to score point after point. The climax however came in the fourth match when the locals took a two point lead which they maintained throughout the frame and walked off with a 15 to 11 win.

Fond du Lac now tops the Fox River Valley Volleyball league with two wins and no losses while Appleton is at the bottom of the ladder, having dropped a game to the Painesville company last week. The Fondy team is composed of Bostwick, Tuttle, Woodworth, Swart, and Stiller and Wagner.

The local team is composed of C. Remley, John Neller, A. Carter, E. Orison, W. S. Patterson, and Dr. G. W. Carlson. Neller and Remley are members of former valley championship teams. Their next league game will be with the Kimberly-Clark company at Kimberly, Thursday, Nov. 8.

KUNTZ SECOND HIGH GRID SCORER

Kranhold Only Man in Valley Conference to Get Placement Kicks

Amy Tadych still leads the scorers in the valley conference but Bobby Kuntz is at his heels running a close second. The situation is the result of Appleton High's strong defense which stopped the fleet-footed Oshkosh back dead in his tracks and the team's ability to take out interference and let Kuntz get underway.

Kranhold, Appleton tackle, without a touchdown to his credit, stands in a class by himself for he has scored 7 points. He has the unique honor of being the only man in the valley to boot at least one kick from placement. He has two place kicks and one point after touchdown to his credit.

Individual scoring records follow:

LANDIS DECIDES ON CITY SERIES SPLIT

Chicago—(AP)—Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis has used his big stick again—this time to settle a fight among the White Sox over their portion of the city series.

After waiting several weeks for a decision of the players to how the money should be apportioned, Landis cut the melon Wednesday, signing 27 checks for $320.84 and two for $410.42.

MUCH ADO ABOUT SEVERAL THINGS

Efforts are being made to revive the fight game which at the present writing is lower than a small's turnmy. Fans will watch the effort with interest for it may result in Jack Dempsey's being lured back into the ring for a final killing. Bally-hoo has been started to interest the public in a Firpo and Dempsey comeback. If the fans fall, chances are ten to one both men will stage comebacks.

What's back of the deal? Well, remember, reports that the Garden is $300,000 behind last year's receipts? Perhaps that's the answer.

The Daily Cardinal, Madison, the Milwaukee Journal and a few others are taking Wisconsin students to task for their lack of spirit despite the fact they have a mighty good team at the U this year. It seems the Badger students are in the same boat as the Lawrence undergrads. They have something else to do instead of backing up their sports teams. Parties, social events, etc.

Valley sport fans who have followed high school grid games closely for the last couple years will probably recall that Orlbeck and Bruinooge, two men who are starting on this year's Carroll grid eleven once coveted on the gridiron for Sheboygan. Orlbeck is a quarter-back and Bruinooge an end. The latter was responsible for two of Carroll's touchdowns against Ripon Saturday, being on the receiving end of forward passes.

We noticed an article in a recent issue of the Menasha paper deploring the football situation in that school and bringing attention to the fact that Neenah teams appear to have been beaten because other teams know more about fundamentals, blocking, tackling and general teamwork. We don't like to critic coaches for their life is far from easy, but from what we've seen on the field it seems that something is radically wrong. Perhaps after this season is over, Coach Jorgensen might be better off by relinquishing his hold on the grid team.

MANITOWOC EXPECTS X-COUNTRY VICTORY

Entering Strongest Team in Valley Conference Run Saturday

Manitowoc—With the third consecutive conference title as their goal, the Manitowoc cross country is preparing this week for the conference championship run at Marinette next Saturday. Coach W. L. Johnson has been giving the team his personal attention all week in hopes of sending one of the strongest teams to the local school has ever entered in the meet.

After clearing all barriers so far this season, the team will attempt to keep its slate clean by winning the conference title. After placing eight men first in the Appleton dual to win the run by the score of 15-55, the team continued its work in preparation for the East High dual.

Manitowoc managed to place twelve men ahead of the East barriers to run up a score of 15-55. Last week they met the hill and dale team from Washington High school, Milwaukee, and annexed another victory. The final score was 19-55.

The Manitowoc team will be headed by Capt. John Maresch, who has been a member of barrier teams for the past three seasons. Maresch is the only two-lettered man on the team. O'Neil, the diminutive little sophomore runner, who has won the three races he has been entered in, this fall, is expected to lead the Manitowoc pack to the finish line.

However, the team will be well fortified with several other runners. Paulus, the other letter man on the team, is expected to finish a close second to Capt. Maresch, and will be followed closely by Fill, a junior, who has placed among the first five men in the last two dual runs. Belz, and Larson, both sophomores, are scheduled for an interesting duel. These two barriers have been alternating places, and are out to settle the affair at Marinette. Other men who will make the trip are: Blasser, Sammons, McCarthy, Mattie, and Hendricks.

CARROLL END TOPS LITTLE 4 SCORERS

Pioneers Lead in Conference Scoring With 31 Points

Waukesha—James Bruinooge, Carroll sophomore, leads the Little Four conference in scoring with two touchdowns, which he made against Ripon on passes from Goerke. The following have made one touchdown each in opening conference games: Johnson, Beloit; Bartell, Lawrence; Fellenz, Orlbeck; and Goerke, Carroll.

Carroll likewise is ahead in conference scoring, having tallied twenty-one points thus far. Beloit is next with seven points and Lawrence third with six. Ripon has not scored any.

Unless Ripon beats Beloit in Ripon's Dad's day game Nov. 10, Carroll and Beloit will be tied, at the end of the grid season for the Little Four conference, that is in its first year. This condition is possible due to the fact that Beloit and Carroll do not meet on the gridiron this season, but will meet for the first time next year in six years.

Beloit's 7 to 6 victory over Lawrence, and Carroll's 31 to 0 win over Ripon last Saturday, puts both leaders out of the conference race unless the Crimson can defeat Beloit as well as the Vikings. Carroll needs only to beat the Vikings to retain its present lead.

HAWKEYE BACKS GROUND GAINERS

Ball Carriers Average 5
Yards on Plunge; Paper Leads

Iowa City—More than half of the distance necessary for a first down has been made on each play from scrimmage by University of Iowa backfield men in the four games this fall, figures on the average gain show.

The exact average of the Hawkeye backs, with the schedule half completed, is 5.3 yards. Against Monmouth, Chicago, Ripon, and Minnesota, Iowa advanced the ball a total of 1,088 yards on 203 trials. Forward pass figures are not included in the reckoning.

With Oran Pape, substitute, as the leading ground gainer, the Iowans made 313 yards against Monmouth in the season's first game. Mayes McLain was Iowa's leader in the Chicago game when he made 119 of a total of 239 yards through the Maroon defense. Again Pape was the greatest yardage-maker in the Ripon game, when he made 119 of Iowa's 331 total, and in the Minnesota contest, with 78 of the Hawk's 143 yards.

Ten backs have carried the ball for the Iowans, with the burden falling upon McLain, Pape, Arnim, and Glasgow. Pape has not played half of the time, yet he leads all his mates on gains from scrimmage with 313 yards in 25 attempts. McLain has 276 yards in 64 trials, and Glasgow, 244 in 64.

These are the other men who have advanced the ball, together with figures for each: W. Arnim, 133 yards in 19 trials; Leo B. Jensen, 56 yards in 11; Loris H. Hager, 21 in 4; Bruce Thomas, 16 in 5; Marvin M. Schmidt, 10 in 2; Carl A. Fagnatelli, 8 in 2; and Mike Farrow, 4 in 5.

IROQUOIS LEAGUE SUBJECT OF STUDY

Ethnologist Spends Summer
Studying Ancient Tribes
Among Descendants

Washington—(AP)—More knowledge of the achievement of Degana-wida, lawgiver, statesman and prophet, who established the remarkable League of the Iroquois about 1570, has been brought back to Washington by J. N. B. Hewitt, Smithsonian ethnologist, after another summer of field work among descendants of the five tribes.

The life work of the great Indian statesman has become, in a sense, the life work of Hewitt. He has devoted 30 years to study of the surviving legends, traditions and customs of the present-day Indians of New York and Canada whose forefathers won to peace among themselves under the unwritten constitution of the league. His effort has been directed to its accurate restoration and interpretation so that it make take its place in the written record of man's progress.

Deganawida could not write, nor could any of his associates, but, appalled by the feuds and warfare which made the Iroquois country a "highway of blood," he sought means of insuring peace among all known tribes. He formulated a constitution based on three sets of "double principles"—health and peace, righteousness and justice, authority and harmony between man and man, and man and nature.

After a long period of proselytizing among the tribes, in which he was aided by Dagonasasen, a chief of the powerful neutral nation, and

MOST RAILROAD INCOME GOES FOR EXPENSES

Paris—(AP)—One-third the money received by European railroads is used for pay rolls and one-eighth to pay the coal bill. Stockholders receive the takings of only four days out of the 365, according to statistics published by the "Revue Generale des Chemins de Fer." Comparison with American roads follows: European roads work four months to pay wages, American roads five months. European roads work two months to pay interest on invested capital, American roads one month. American roads work three months to pay for material and supplies, a half-month for taxes, a half-month for dividends and one month for fuel. European roads work a month and a half for fuel; month and a half for sundry expenditures; one month to buy material for right-of-way and stations; one month for state funds; three weeks to repair and renew rolling stock; and one week to pay taxes.

Hawatha, a tribal chief and cannibal, he brought about the Federation of Five Nations, including the Mohawk, Onondaga, Oneida, Cayuga and Seneca tribes, with astonishingly successful results. Hewitt's principal work this summer was done among the Six Nations of Iroquois living on the Grand River grant near Brantford, Canada, where, with the aid of interpreters and informants, he undertook the first translations of their historical tradition relating to the founding of the League.

DE PERE MAN FINDS READY MARKET FOR HIS GRAIN CROPS

Careful Study of Fertilization and Crop Rotation Is Secret of Success

BY W. F. WINSEY
DE PERE—By the use of certified seed, a good rotation of crops, and quantities of home made and commercial fertilizers and by being a member of the Wisconsin Experiment Association, H. J. Roffers, route 3, not only sells all the grain he can raise at good prices but for the past ten years, he has not been able to meet the demand for his grain. He is shipping grain as far west as Idaho and as far east as Maine, to say nothing of intermediate points.

His certified seed raised the past season are Cold Resistant Golden Glow No. 12 corn, Forward oats, and Velvet barley.

He has adopted a three year rotation in the growing of crops which consists of corn, barley or alfalfa, and a nurse crop for alfalfa and alfalfa. At the close of the first year, he plows his alfalfa field as it is invariably in good condition for raising a big crop of corn.

Of a total of 600 bushels of corn raised this season Mr. Roffers is now curing 400 bushels, in his kiln, set up on racks. Last fall he plowed his alfalfa field to be used as a nurse crop. After seeding time, he worked the field three times to kill weeds and to get the soil in the best of condition for corn. Before planting he broadcast 125 pounds of phosphate to the acre on the field, checked the corn so that he could work the field both ways and keep the weeds down, also checked 100 pounds of 2-12-2 commercial fertilizer to the acre. He planted four kernels in a hill and each kernel produced a strong, vigorous plant. He guarantees 98 per cent of his seed corn to germinate. In harvesting seed corn, he snaps the ears from the standing stalks and feeds the stalks to his cattle.

He fills his silo with alfalfa and product of another part of the farm in which he grows corn and soybeans. He says that soybeans beside being a good feed in themselves take the place of oil meal in a dairy ration.

Mr. Roffers raised 2 acres of Velvet barley the past season as a nurse crop for alfalfa on his cornfield of a year ago that had been fertilized with phosphate and 2-12-2. Because with phosphate and 2-12-2, Velvet barley is the best kind of a nurse crop, said Mr. Roffers. It certainly stands up better than the No. 5 barley with which he won premiums five straight years at the state grain show. This year, Mr. Roffers expects to exhibit velvet barley at the state grain show. Besides being a nurse crop, velvet barley has many other advantages, he says that velvet barley handles with no more discomfort than a crop of oats or wheat.

The only kind of hay that Mr. Roffers raises is alfalfa and he never has had any trouble with the winterkilling of his crop. He attributes his success in raising alfalfa to fertilizing his soil, never pasturing an alfalfa field in the fall and never letting an alfalfa field stand longer than one year. In this way, he keeps a field in a good condition of fertilization and gets a bumper crop of corn. He does not believe in pasturing alfalfa in the fall as the plants are weakened in the process of being tramped in the ground.

He sows the hardy Montana variety of alfalfa seed and invariably inoculates the seed before sowing it. Roffers says that a farmer might as well leave his alfalfa seed in a bag in his barn as to sow it without inoculation.

Mr. Roffers raises his forward oats from certified seed and sows them in his oats and barley before sowing to control rust in the oats and smut and stripe in barley. He fertilizes each field once in three years with barnyard manure on alfalfa and commercial fertilizer on corn.

Fertilizers are a great convenience for the ripening of early crops of corn and the production of high quality hay and grain, and it is easier to raise certified grain and a great deal more satisfactory, than to raise scrub grain," concluded Mr. Roffers.

OKLAHOMA SOIL ISN'T SUITED TO SUGAR BEET

—Oklahoma City—If Oklahoma raises sugar beets in the future it likely will be only for the forage offered by the tops. Tests by the state board of agriculture have shown that the soil in many sections is not adapted to the crop.

Approximately $1,500 of $5,000 appropriated for the test has been spent, with recommendations that the remainder be turned back into the state treasury and the legislature expend no more funds on the project.

Seed purchased from Garden City, Kas., refineries was distributed free to 1,200 farmers in 56 of Oklahoma's 77 counties. Each planted from one to two acres as an experiment. Few, if any, sugar beets will be shipped to refineries this fall, however, although the state has offered to pay expenses that it may learn just what quality beet the land can best produce.

While the sugar crop was disappointing, it was learned that beet tops make excellent feed for cattle and it is probable many ranchers will raise them for forage.

SHARP EXPANSION IN VEGETABLE INDUSTRY

Washington—(AP)—Statistics compiled by the department of agriculture indicates a remarkable expansion in the fruit and vegetable industry. Changing food habits of the American people and the ability to buy products formerly considered luxuries are credited for the increase.

Well Trained Soils Never Wear Out, Experiments Prove

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Thirty million acres of idle crop land, much of it abandoned on the theory that it is "worn out," some day will be brought back into active production, soil scientists say. It is their contention that, except in the popular conception, land does not wear out and that with intelligent management a field may be seeded to the same crop each consecutive year indefinitely without diminishing the yield.

The most notable example is recorded at Rothamsted Experiment Station in England, where the eighty-sixth consecutive crop of wheat was produced this year on the same land. The average yield for the entire period has been 35 bushels to the acre, maintained, officials say, by returning to the soil the same elements of plant food in the same quantity they were taken up by each crop. The experiment, oldest of its kind in the world, was started in 1843, when the station was founded by Sir John Lawes, the originator of commercial fertilizers. England had an exceptionally good growing season this year, and the wheat at Rothamsted stood shoulder high at cutting.

Of more significance to American agriculture, the forty-eighth consecutive crop of wheat on the same land was produced this year at Pennsylvania State College. To the United States what the Rothamsted is to England, the Pennsylvania is the oldest in this country. Like Rothamsted, it is considered to prove that high yields can be maintained by intelligent use of plant food and good farming practice. Wheat there averaged 23 bushels to the acre as against 12 bushels to the acre on a neighboring field grown with no attention to soil requirements.

In the various phases of soil fertility and conservation Europe is the treasure house of the centuries. It has shown the way, on soils that have been under cultivation for more than 2,000 years, to the upbuilding of a superior fertility as indicated by crop yields far superior to those of the practically virgin land in this country.

Soil is not allowed to "wear out" in Europe, where the needs of the population are pressing agriculture production to the limit. The population here, economists say, has not caught up with farm production, a situation blamed for much of the tendency to abandon land when its fertility has been mined and yields grow short.

The census of 1920 showed 956 million acres of land in farm in this country. By 1925 it had dropped to 924 million acres, or an abandonment of 32 million acres. During the same period the world's population increased from 1,763,000,000 to 2,000,000,000. It is admitted that various influences are responsible for the abandonment, but the soil scientists maintain that had the land been highly productive less of it would have been left idle.

DAIRY RECORDS ARE LOW IN WISCONSIN HERDS

Madison—The usual late summer decline in milk production was reported in Wisconsin dairy herd inventories during September. It is shown in a report compiled by animal husbandmen at the College of Agriculture of the state university.

The average production of the 59,413 cows tested during the month was 19.6 pounds of butterfat, compared with 21.4 pounds during August. Records of 40 pounds of fat were reported by 2,803 cows against 4,240 the previous month.

The cause of the drop is perfectly obvious, says the university specialists, as pastures were short and many cows were at the end of the lactation period.

Leading honors for herd production went to Jack Zenger, member of the Mondovi-Medina association, whose eight Holsteins averaged 47.0 pounds of butterfat. F. Summich, of the Bonduel club, and Avery Glick, of Sabin-Viola association, were tied for second honors, the herds of each averaging 45.6 pounds.

The highest individual cow record was completed at Atlanta farm, in the Dunn county association, one of its purebred Holsteins producing 99.6 pounds of fat.

Records of 3,650 herds, tested in 144 associations, were included in the summary. Twenty-two other associations were active during the month but their records were not received in time to be included in the report.

FARMERS FEEDING PIGS HOME GROWN BARLEY

Madison—(AP)—By feeding their pigs home grown barley instead of commercial states feed, Wisconsin farmers are avoiding loss of hogs from scab disease, according to R. A. Moore, chief agronomist at the University of Wisconsin. He says that 100 members of the state experiment association report that feeding Wisconsin barley has resulted in no loss of pigs from illness from the feed.

As far as we can discover, barley in this state is evidently free from the scab because it is grown on cleaner soil than in the corn belt," Mr. Moore reports. "The disease is worse in districts where barley was seeded last spring on poorly plowed corn land."

"Wisconsin stockmen are finding barley to be one of their most satisfactory feeds, and it would be a misfortune if they curtailed the use of the crop because of outbreaks in other states."

Cattle experts say that scabby barley makes pigs, sick, causing them to vomit, after which they refuse to touch the grain. Because on the grain from some middle western districts, Mr. Moore says.

Ewes to be bred at this time of year should be given plenty of abundant pastures, such as timothy, bluegrass or rape. Pumpkins strewn over the field are excellent as a food.

To the soil scientist there is no such thing as "worn out" land, a popular theory that is blamed for much of the farm abandonment in this country. Above is an experimental wheat field at Rothamsted, England, showing the 86th consecutive crop, shoulder high and yielding 35 bushels to the acre. At the right, below, is the 48th consecutive crop of wheat at Pennsylvania State College, averaging 23 bushels to the acre as compared, at the left, with 12 bushels to the acre where soil requirements have been neglected.

741 STUDYING "AG" AT STATE COLLEGE

Enrollment Is Larger Than Last Year, Dean Russell Reports

Madison—Final registration in the College of Agriculture, University of Wisconsin number 741, which represents a gain over last year, according to an announcement issued by H. L. Russell, dean of the college.

Freshman enrollment in agricultural courses totals 70, compared with 82 last year. Undergraduate students in home economics number 13 less than last year, but a gain of 41 students is reported in the graduate classes.

"An examination of the new class explodes the myth that the large proportion of incoming freshmen are from the city," declares Dean Russell. "Registration data for the past two years shows that nearly three-fourths of the freshmen class were either from the farms or have had considerable farm experience."

"Of this year's class of freshmen, only 19 were city-reared. Of this number five are sons of men engaged in the milk business, an enterprise very intimate to farming and which is studied in one of the divisions of the college. The other freshmen who were from the city are from the homes of salesmen, laborers, engineers, and retailers."

That elementary training in better farming stimulates young men to continue work in some of the many branches of scientific agriculture is evident, the dean says, from the records of this year's incoming class. Twenty-seven of the freshmen have high school, and 17 have been members of 4-H clubs. Twenty-nine of the freshmen in home economics have had home training in secondary schools.

A shift in the origin of home economics students is noted by Dean Russell. Girls from farms and small villages seem to be taking more interest in homemaking courses than their city cousins. While several

CATTLE PRICES REPORTED HIGHER

Hog Receipts Increase but Prices Fall, Weekly Market Review Shows

Madison—(AP)—Trading on butter was fair, cheese showed no improvement, while hog receipts increased though prices declined, and cattle prices rose 65 cents and sheep prices fell lower, according to the weekly market review by the state department of markets here.

The report said the butter market was fair during the past week. Demand was especially active on medium grades. Several fractional price advances took place. Another fractional advance took place at the end of the week. All grades were close to cleaned up, especially the score above 85. Receivers were holding goods for premiums which were obtainable in some quarters. Centralized car market was slow. Cold storage holdings at the four principal markets on October 25 amounted to 48,412,533 pounds as compared with 57,450,772 pounds on the same week day last year. Butter prices are 13 cents higher than last year at this time.

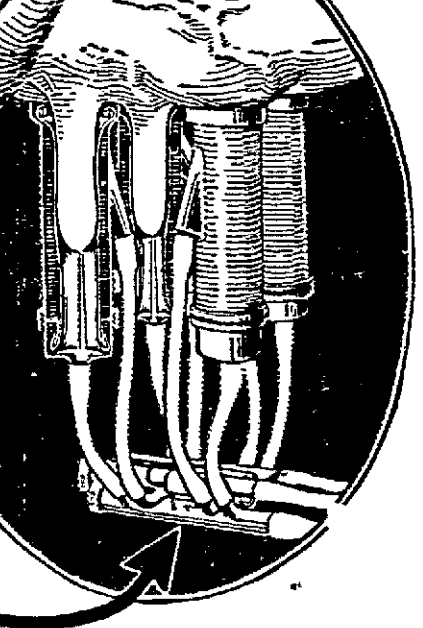

Cheese markets showed no improvement. Buyers showed no interest and trade was dull. Cold storage holdings at the four principal markets on October 25 amounted to 17,847,849 pounds as compared with 13,324,086 pounds on the same week day last year. Cheese prices are about 4 cents higher than last year at this time.

Hog receipts increased over the supplies of the previous week. Prices declined 40 to 65c and are about 15 cents lower than last year at this time.

Cattle prices are 65 cents higher and sheep 70 cents lower than last year at this time.

years ago fully 7 per cent of the freshmen women were from the cities, only about 40 per cent of this year's class were city reared.

De Laval Milkers

There are just six parts to the De Laval Pulsator—only one of which moves, and it never requires oiling.

A pulsator is a very important part of a milking machine. It governs the periods of suction and squeeze or massage, which must be of correct frequency and exact and uniform in duration, in order that the cow's milk-producing organs may be stimulated to greatest activity and production. With the De Laval these periods are just right and absolutely uniform, which means that your cows are milked the same morning and night, year after year.

The De Laval Pulsator cannot be adjusted by the operator. It is thoroughly reliable, running years without attention. It is practically fool-proof.

Compare the De Laval with pulsators on other milking machines having from 30 to 60 or more parts, consisting of springs, screws, adjustable devices, etc., and you will realize its greater value. Then keep in mind that the same thought and care in designing the De Laval Pulsator have been put into the entire machine, all other parts being just as superior. Let us show you why.

NEW ANNOUNCEMENT ON CORN BORER IS COMING IN NOVEMBER

Department of Agriculture Shows Pest Has Advanced 30 Miles in Year

BY FRANK I. WELLER
WASHINGTON—(AP)—In November the department of agriculture will announce the new spread of the European corn borer. The report will be significant in two ways. It will show how far the pest advanced toward the corn belt this year, after millions of dollars have been spent to stop it; and give the department's views on whether attempts at extermination are efficacious. The normal rate of spread has been 20 to 25 miles a year. The November report will announce the borer 30 miles nearer his goal than in 1927.

In view of the fact that the same advance was made by the corn borer this year as was made before the $10,000,000 campaign authorized by congress, Dr. W. H. Larrimer, in charge of corn borer control work for the government, says "it has become apparent that the natural spread of the pest cannot be stopped. The corn belt is going to get it."

However, out of the struggle have come practical methods of control. Farmers have learned how to clean up their farms in such a way no hibernation place is left for the borer. The practice has spread to Canada where the corn acreage, which in some sections had been reduced 67 per cent, was increased 25 per cent this year and gave a good mature crop on the same fields where complete destruction was experienced three years ago.

Entomologists, Larrimer says, never believed at any time that the borer could be stopped, at least under present methods. The same theory was adopted at a recent meeting of entomological societies in Toledo, Ohio. Its resolutions committee, composed of entomologists, agricultural engineers, economists, and agrarians, recommended that no more large appropriations be made to fight the pest. The resolution is considered particularly important in view of congress, at its December session, being called upon to appropriate the second $1,000,000 borer-control fund authorized before adjournment last May.

Larrimer insists such an appropriation would be a "useless waste of money" since it is doubtful if the advance of the borer even can be momentarily retarded. The $10,000,000 campaign concluded this year, he says, has given the farmer knowledge of about all he can do to protect his crop. As a result, the borer will not necessarily make the profitable production of corn impossible in infested areas. It is a grave menace, in that its presence will make it more expensive for farmers to grow corn.

According to the report to be published in November, when control measures may be most effectively practiced, the borer pushed westward this year, about two townships deep, all along the ragged boundary of infestation from south central Ohio to the lower edge of Lake Michigan in Indiana.

BIG PRODUCTION CUTS FEED COST OF DAIRY CATTLE

Washington—(AP)—Dairy cows that yield 400 pounds of butterfat a year produce more than 10 times as much profit as cows which yield only 100 pounds of butterfat, figures compiled by the department of agriculture show.

In a tabulation of more than 18,000 yearly records of cows in testing associations, where the income was from the sale of butterfat, a group of cows having an average yearly butterfat production of 100 pounds made an average income of $10 over feed costs. For 400 pounds the income was $106.

"On an average," the department says, "one cow in the 400-pound group produced more income over cost of feed than 10 cows in the 100-pound group. Most dairymen would rather take care of one good cow than 10 poor ones, yet in many of our dairy herds the 100-pound cows are much more numerous."

As average butterfat production per cow increased, the gain in income over cost of feed was very regular. As a rule, a gain of 50 pounds in production of butterfat per cow was accompanied by an increase of $16 in income over cost of feed.

infested areas. It is a grave menace, in that its presence will make it more expensive for farmers to grow corn.

According to the report to be published in November, when control measures may be most effectively practiced, the borer pushed westward this year, about two townships deep, all along the ragged boundary of infestation from south central Ohio to the lower edge of Lake Michigan in Indiana.

ARTICLE TELLS NEED OF RETAIL DEALERS

Bulletin Tells How Many Customers Needed to Do Average Business

Madison—(AP)—Customers needed by retail dealers in various lines in order to do an average amount of business is the subject of an article in the latest issue of the Wisconsin Retail Bulletin, University monthly publication. Figures are based on analysis of a recent government census of retail trade in 11 cities of 25,000 population and over.

The unit of community buying power considered is $50,000, which is approximately what the average store takes in annually, the article said. According to the bulletin every 995 people in the community spend that amount for groceries each year; the furniture dealer can expect a trade of $50,000 from a population group of 1,650; the butcher from each 1,990 people; the druggist from each 2,180; the men's clothier, from each 2,220; the dealer in women's apparel, from each 2,380; the shoe dealer, from each 2,710; the hardware merchant from each 4,150; the variety store from each 5,960 and the jeweler, from each 1,970.

Incidental copulations from the investigation are that the average man spends more than the average woman on clothes, and that the average community expends about the same amount for "variety" goods, including 5-and-10 cent articles as it does for its most costly line of purchases jewelry.

The enterprising retailer will not accept the foregoing figures as a dead-line, said R. H. Doering, editor of the bulletin. He will rather strive for "intensive cultivation" of the

ONLY 846 PUPILS HAVE GOOD TEETH

Survey of Schools Here Show That Almost 2,000 Need Dental Attention

Out of 2769 children who were examined during the dental survey in the schools of Appleton, only 846 had perfect teeth, according to statistics compiled at the completion of the survey, which was conducted by the dentists of the city. Printed notices to be taken home to the parents were given to all children who needed any dental care whatever—cleaning, fillings, or extractions.

The survey, sponsored by the dentists, the Kiwanis club, and the board of education, was conducted two weeks ago. It is hoped that all parents will see that their children's teeth are attended to, either by the family dentist or at the clinic to be conducted later in the year by Appleton dentists.

SPORTSMEN MAKE COMPLAINT ABOUT SLAYING OF COOTS

A number of local sportsmen have called the attention of the Wisconsin Conservation commission to the wanton and needless slaughter of thousands of mudhens and coots in the marshes and river regions of this territory and William Mauthe, in a reply to one of the sportsmen, has promised to place the matter before the body at its next meeting. In many instances duck hunters, disappointed because of inability to bag ducks, slaughter hundreds of coots and mudhens and then left them to rot where they fall, it is said.

TWO CHEESE FACTORIES IN COUNTY WIN PRIZES

Two Outagamie-co cheese factories were among the prize winners in the 1928 "Beautiful Your Surroundings" contest conducted by the Marshall Dairy Laboratory of Madison, according to word received by R. A. Amundson, county agricultural agent. The Sugar Bush Cheese factory, Sugar Bush, won second place in the eastern Wisconsin district and the Spring Brook Cheese factory of Appleton, won third place in the same district. Emil H. Peters is manager of the Sugar Bush factory and F. L. Schneider is manager of the Spring Brook factory. The Union Star Cheese factory of Fremont won first place in the statewide contest and Henry Metzger, manager, received a gold medal. Mr. Peters received a $50 award and Mr. Schneider a $25 award.

WEST ALLIS MAYOR IS SUPPORTING KOHLER

West Allis—Because the Republican party in Wisconsin has chosen Walter J. Kohler as its nominee for governor, Mayor Delbert Miller of this city, a LaFollette Progressive, today endorsed Mr. Kohler and offered the candidate his support.

"Now that the Republican party has chosen you as its standard bearer," Mayor Miller wrote Mr. Kohler, "I feel that you should know that a Progressive Republic I shall yield to the mandate of the primary election and actively support your candidacy for governor. I shall welcome any suggestion that you may have where in I can be of service to you."

During the primary campaign, when Mr. Kohler spoke in West Allis, he visited with Mayor Miller, who at that time was actively associated with the Beck campaign.

Book Of Knowledge

Our Presidents

President Coolidge announced that the policy of the government would be one of strictest economy. During his first term, an act was passed limiting immigration, the percentage of those allowed to enter being fixed at 2 per cent of the number of that nationality residing in the United States in 1890. Under the present law members of the yellow races are not allowed to enter.

By NEA, Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge, Copyright, 1923-26.

President Coolidge won great popularity by reduction of taxes. This helped him in 1924 when he was the candidate against John W. Davis, Democrat.

Coolidge was elected by a large majority. A third party, headed by Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, cut into the Democratic vote.

President Coolidge had married Grace A. Goodhue in 1905 and two sons were born to them. One of the boys, Calvin, Jr., died while Coolidge was president, in 1924. John, the other son, recently was graduated from Amherst College and took a position as a clerk for the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, starting at the bottom.

KAUKAUNA-LITTLE CHUTE-KIMBERLY

NEARBY
TOWNSCALL MEETING TO CONSIDER BRINGING IN NEW INDUSTRY

Helgerson Steel Foundry Company to Be Discussed at Conference

Kaukauna.—New developments have come up in the proposition of the Helgerson Steel Foundry company of Green Bay which wants to locate in Kaukauna, and it was decided at a meeting of the Kaukauna Advancement association in the council chambers Tuesday evening to hold a meeting of all interested local residents at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon in the council chambers.

Word was received by President Ben Prugh that a wood molding corporation is looking for a chance to locate in this city. The matter will be investigated. It was decided by the association to give W. H. Herman the sum of $50 for the work he did last year in putting on the Mid-Winter fair, of which he was chairman. He was chosen by a committee meeting about a week ago to be chairman of the affair again this year.

A. Goldin gave a talk on the conditions of the Orient and this country. He told of his arrival in this country and his work for a living. He said that after two years in this country he was able to send for his family.

"I did not realize until I had stepped on American soil," he said, "that people have respect for each other. When a man in Russia meets a policeman he moves away in fear."

When Mr. Goldin left his country at 32 years of age, he did so under the cover of darkness. He went with a group of others into Germany and then to the United States. The people in the Orient marvel when they hear that the people elected their own leader or president.

"If the people here could make a trip to the Orient as I did a few years ago, they would realize that this is really a golden country," he said. "This is a heaven compared to the life in the Orient."

Two men from the Appleton Salvation army headquarters appeared before the association and discussed the establishment of a branch station in Kaukauna. They will see business men on the matter this week.

RAUGHT PRESIDENT OF MUNI UTILITIES

Kaukauna Man Elected
Permanent President at Meeting in Menasha

Kaukauna.—Former Mayor Charles Raught, cashier of the First National Bank, was elected president of the Wisconsin Municipality Owned Utilities association at a meeting at Menasha Wednesday. About 40 men attended. Mr. Raught was elected temporary chairman at the first meeting of the organization in this city a few weeks ago.

The constitution of the association was adopted and a legislative committee was appointed.

Other local men at the meeting were J. O. Posson, Edward Haas and H. F. Weckworth. The organization represents about 87 cities in this state. The association also will discuss other problems that arise in municipalities.

EDUCATION IS TOPIC
AT DE MOLAY MEETING

Kaukauna.—National Education Day was observed by the Order of DeMolay with an Educational program in DeMolay hall Wednesday evening. Elmer Ott, high school athletic coach, told of where the Public School in Falls City, Mo. What I Wanted: William Ashe talked on "What a Business" and "An Expectations and Does Not Get From a High School Graduate," and J. F. Cavanaugh, superintendent of city schools, discussed "What the Public School is Doing for the Student." The program closed with a talk on "What I Expect of the School Board in 1929 as a Taxpayer," by J. J. Haas, principal of the Junior high school.

CITY SWIMMING POOL
CLOSED FOR WINTER

Kaukauna.—The municipal swimming pool was closed Thursday for the winter. The pool was ordered closed by J. O. Posson, head of the electrical and water departments, because there were too few swimmers using the pool to warrant the expense.

BRAUN FUNERAL

Kaukauna.—Funeral services for William Braun, 72, who died at his home at 105 W. Tenth-st. Tuesday evening, will be at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Immanuel Reformed church.

Mr. Braun had been a resident of this city since 1873, coming here from Germany. He is survived by two daughters, Louise and Anna of Kaukauna; one son, William of Green Bay; two brothers, Charles of Chicago, Ill., and Albert in Germany; one sister, Mrs. Herman Pienberg of Kaukauna.

The Post-Crescent's representative at Kaukauna is Lloyd Derus. His telephone number is 194-W. Business with The Post-Crescent may be transacted through Mr. Derus.

Social Items

Kaukauna.—There will be a meeting of the Women's Relief Corps at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the Legion hall. Routine business will be transacted.

The Brotherhood of Andrew and Phillip will meet at 7:30 Thursday evening in the assembly room of Immanuel Reformed church. Routine business will be transacted.

Members of the Ladies Aid society will meet at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon to discuss plans for the bazaar to be held on November 22. Refreshments will be served after the business meeting.

The annual bazaar of the Evangelical church was held in the church basement Wednesday. Chicken booby and lunch was served. The bazaar was a success.

There will be a meeting of the Lady Elks at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon in the Elks hall. Mrs. H. G. Brauer will be the hostess.

WOMAN BOWLER SLAPS PINS FOR 164 COUNT

Kaukauna.—Miss Janet Smith rolled 164 for high single score in the Ladies Bowling league on the Hilgenberg Ales Tuesday evening. She also rolled 454 for the high total score.

A committee is working on the names of four teams, and they will be finished by the first of the week. Team Eight took two out of three games from Team Four. Team Seven took three straight games from Team Two, and Team One took three straight games from Team Five and Team Three took two games out of three from Team Six.

FOUR TROOPS SPEND NIGHT IN BOY CAMP

Halloween Program Offered 75 Youngsters at Boy Scout Camp on Lake Shore

Four boy scouts were initiated into troops and awards were given to four others at a Halloween party for scouts of Troop 2 of the Methodist church, Troop 4 of the American Legion, Troop 11 of the McKinley Junior high school and Troop 13 of the First English Lutheran church at Camp Chickagami, valley council scout camp on Lake Winnebago, Wednesday evening.

The new scouts are Lawrence Larson, Charles Mead, Ralph Egan and James Gmblin. Second class awards were given to Robert Rydell of Troop 2 and Edward Jensen of Troop 11. Charles Widensten received merit badge awards for handicraft and wood carving and Kenneth Wolsworth for handicraft and public health.

Approximately 75 scouts and leaders attended the party. Several units were presented by each of the troops represented around the fireplace in the main camp building, according to M. G. Clark, valley scout executive who gave several readings.

Following the indoor program the group was entertained with a ghost walk through the camp. Later in the evening the investment ceremony was conducted for the four new scouts and the awards were presented. Scouts of Troop 11 stayed at the camp over night and returned to Appleton, Thursday morning.

CLEANLINESS IS URGED ON FARMERS

Keep Milk Utensils and Dairy Barns Fresh and Clean, Dairy Expert Says

BY W. F. WINSEY
Greenfield.—At the second of a series of dairy production and marketing meetings for Outagamie county held in Probst hall Wednesday afternoon, County Agent R. A. Amundson, and H. T. Sondergaard, of college of agriculture were the principal speakers.

Mr. Sondergaard favored cooperative quality production and marketing of milk and other dairy products. He described the better methods of producing clean milk and the tests that are applied to milk to test its condition.

His methods of producing good, clean milk included clean, nourishing feed for cows, airy, well lighted and ventilated stables, drained floors, cleaned before milking time, white washed walls, cows brushed and cleaned before milking, clean hands and overalls, a cotton batten strainer for milk as cheese cloth, and other strainers get filthy and cannot be easily cleaned, cooling milk down to 65 degrees soon after milking in tanks contrived for the purpose, delivery of the milk to the factory before it gets warm after cooling, cooling milk winter and summer, clean milk cans washed with a special brush instead of cloths as the brush reaches the corners of the cans, rinsing the cans and sealing them, and keeping all the milk utensils strictly clean. "One germ in a milk can with the temperature reduced to 50 degrees will multiply to 250,000 in 24 hours," said Mr. Sondergaard.

The sediment milk test, the acid test, and the Methaline blue test were described and demonstrated by the speaker.

except that one time he thought it ought to go down the Hudson river. He says if he is elected he will get an engineer to look into the matter. He will give him Mr. Hoover. "But Governor Smith really was not himself until he got to Milwaukee," the senator stated.

He then proceeded to show that Governor Smith straddled this issue also because while he was publicly declaring for a prohibition amendment he had the radio broadcasting stations in the dry areas turned off. He said the governor was urging a change in the prohibition laws and at the same time he was supporting 25 "bone-dry" candidates for legislative seats from the south.

The governor's stand on the water power are more offensive to progressive principles than his ideas on agriculture the senator said. In a loud tone the governor declares for government production of a low tone for private sale, he said. A. H. Krugmeier, chairman of the Outagamie County Republican precinct committee, introduced Mr. Brookhart.

PADDOCK, NOTED OLYMPIC RUNNER, SPEAKS IN SCHOOL

Athlete Tells Students to Cultivate Sportsmanship in Athletics

More enthusiastically received by the student body than any speaker who has ever addressed the assembly, Charles W. Paddock, holder of seventeen world's track records and a veteran of three Olympics spoke before the Appleton High school students, faculty members and about 25 college students at the high school Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Paddock was the second number of the high school lyceum course.

The subject of Mr. Paddock's address was the Spirit of Sportsmanship, and after giving several definitions of the word sportsmanship, he pointed out three ways of being successful in athletics. Perfect condition of body and mind, he pointed out, is the most essential requisite for success in this field, and these obtained through a constant observance of training rules and a great deal of sacrifice. The second requirement, is gameness or courage, and this, he said, means being able to play better than your best at critical times. He gave examples of famous records that had been made by players who were working against odds, but whose gameness carried them through to victory. Sportsmanship is the third essential, declared the speaker.

Be a Sport
He pointed out that sportsmanship may often lose the game of the moment, but that it would win the ultimate goal, character. He illustrated this point with an incident of the last Olympic contest, when a runner lost a race because he was sportsman enough to take a moment to apologize for having jostled his opponent.

Mr. Paddock also told of the danger of over-confidence, and, speaking of Appleton high school's strong football team, about which he had heard accounts in other valley cities were he has spoken, he warned the students and team against being over-confident. He described an incident in his own life when over-confidence had lost a contest for him and another American runner when they entered a race with the impression that their opponent, a German runner, was afraid of them. The next number of the school lyceum course will be Ralph Robinson, explorer, who will appear on Nov. 15. Robinson has just returned from his sixth journey to the far north.

SELECT CONTESTANTS IN DECLAMATORY CONTEST

PRINCIPALS WANT SCHOOL BOY PATROLS

Temporary Organizations Will Be Formed to Protect Children on Streets

School boy patrols will be organized in the near future at Appleton High school and Roosevelt and Wilson Junior High schools, it was decided at a meeting of high school principals at Lincoln school Wednesday morning. No definite plans of organization have yet been decided upon, but it is probable that each school will select a number of capable boys with good judgment, preferably leaders in scholarship and school activities, to form the first patrols. The initial organizations will be only temporary, so that as defects are noted changes can be made.

It also was decided at the meeting to distribute among the school children a form letter urging parents to vote and to vote early. The letters will go out on Thursday or Friday. Announcement of the Older Boys' conference at Janesville during Thanksgiving week was made by Superintendent E. J. Rohan, who conducted the meeting.

COLD RELIEVED INSTANTLY WAY DOCTORS NOW ADVISE

tempting Taste! Instant Relief—Then Cold Just Disappears When Treated This Way

Neglecting autumn colds is sure to cause needless misery and may risk pneumonia. So doctors are now recommending a method that is giving quick, sure relief—not only in extreme hospital cases but in vast numbers of homes in Appleton and vicinity.

Miss Edith Dennis, for example, neglected her cold until her eyes became inflamed, her nose stopped up and congestion started spreading so bad she called her doctor who advised Ayer's Cherry Pectoral—a hospital certified compound of wild cherry, terpin hydrate, and other ingredients. With the first pleasant swallow she felt its comforting, healing warmth. Relief began instantly and in an hour or so the medication was absorbed by her system, loosening up congestion in her nose passages and chest. When she awoke next morning there was practically no sign of the cold—and in another day or so congestion had disappeared entirely.

Note: Other cases reported daily—all certified by attending physician.

This hospital certified medicine quickly penetrates and heals inflamed linings of the air passages. Absorbed by the system it helps get rid of congestion, reduce fever and drives out the cold from the nose passages, throat, and chest.

Just a few pleasant spoonfuls of Ayer's Pectoral now and you, too, will feel like a different person tomorrow. At Schlicht's Drug, and all druggists—50c and, twice as much in 3.00 hospital size.

Industrial Hollow Building Is One of Finest in County Meeting Says

Talks by A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools and W. P. Hagman, principal of the Outagamie Rural Normal school at Kaukauna, will feature the program at the dedication exercises of the new Industrial Hollow rural school in the town on Center Thursday night.

Mr. Meating will talk on When a Community Gets Together and Mr. Hagman will discuss Educational Ideals.

Construction of the new school, which Mr. Meating says is one of the finest and most modern in the county, started this summer and it was only recently completed at a cost which exceeds $7,000. The work was done by Otto Kluge, Hortonville contractor, under the direction of the school board are Ben Krueger, Gustave Beyer and John Eggert.

Following is the program for the dedication:

President
William Green
of the American Federation of Labor
Urges the Re-election of
GEORGE J. SCHNEIDER
To CONGRESS

Washington, D. C., October 17, 1928.

TO ALL LABOR ORGANIZATIONS IN THE NINTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT OF WISCONSIN.

Dear Sirs and Brothers:

From information received I learn there is much apathy in the Ninth Congressional District of Wisconsin in the congressional contest. It appears that the members of organized labor and their friends are over-confident and because of that are not taking the usual care in watching out for the interest of labor, which is a dangerous attitude to hold.

Representative George J. Schneider is a candidate for re-election and the National Non-Partisan Political Campaign Committee of the American Federation of Labor is desirous that a full measure of support be given him.

Representative Schneider is one of the standbys of the labor movement in Congress. He never neglects an opportunity to go before committees and urge the passage of remedial legislation. On the floor of the House he is always active and has been of great help to the American Federation of Labor in behalf of all the measures that it has supported.

Let me urge you one and all to realize the danger in over-confidence and use every effort to send back to Congress labor's good friend—Representative Schneider.

Fraternalty yours,
(Signed) WM. GREEN,
President,
American Federation of Labor.

Congressman Schneider has the endorsement of the Railroad Brotherhood of America.

Organized Labor of the Ninth Congressional District are behind the candidacy of Congressman Schneider for re-election.

His record in Congress is a guarantee to every working man and woman in the Ninth Congressional District that they will continue to have a friend in Congress. He has consistently and efficiently served in the interest of all of his constituents.

His record of consistent, honest, efficient public service to his constituents merits the wholehearted support of the voters of the Ninth Congressional District, and should return him to Congress on November 6th with the largest majority ever cast for a candidate for Congress in this District.

DISMISS CHARGES OF ASSAULT AGAINST TWO GREEN BAY MEN

Two Others Must Stand Trial, However, on Charges of Beating Officer

Charges against George Goetzlaff and Dink Anderson, Green Bay, accused of helping in the assault of a police officer were dismissed by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Wednesday afternoon for lack of evidence. Roger Birch, Green Bay, was bound over for trial on Dec. 14, on a similar charge. He was unable to furnish $500 bonds and is being held in the county jail. John Saunders, Green Bay, also was bound over for trial on Nov. 27 following his arraignment before Judge Berg Wednesday afternoon. He is charged with resisting an officer and assaulting an officer with intent to do great bodily harm. He furnished $1,000 bonds.

The four young men were arrested following a fracas at Convent dance hall in Oneida in which Deputy Sheriff Henry Fingle was badly beaten. The officer charged that Saunders struck him in the face blackening an eye, knocking out two teeth and cutting his lip. When Saunders is unable to have made the attack someone held the officer's arms behind him.

A witness at the preliminary hearings Wednesday testified that Birch was the man who held the officer's arms. No witnesses were able to identify Anderson or Goetzlaff and therefore the charges against them were dismissed. Stanley H. Staidl, assistant district attorney, made the investigation of the affair, issued the warrants and is prosecuting the case.

LAWYERS FILE BRIEFS IN DIVORCE ACTION

Further testimony was taken Thursday morning by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court in an action for divorce started by Mrs. Marie Maleika, 114 S. Commercial, against her husband, Herman Maleika, 473 E. Pine street, Chicago. Mrs. Maleika charges her husband was cruel and inhuman because he was an excessive drinker and used abusive language when talking to her. Mr. Maleika claims his wife had no right to start a divorce action in Wisconsin because she had not complied with the law which makes it necessary for a person to live in the state two years before starting suit. Attorneys in the case requested permission to file briefs on the matter and Judge Berg granted the request.

2 LOCAL MEN DONATE $350 TO HOOVER CLUB

Two Appleton men, who contributed a total of $350 to the campaign fund of the Outagamie County Hoover-Curtis club, Homer H. # START SALE OF SEATS FOR NILES BALLET DANCERS

The seat sale for the Doris Niles ballet performance, which will take place at Lawrence Memorial chapel Nov. 14 under the auspices of the Appleton Woman's club, will open Friday at Beiling's drugstore. Though Miss Niles is new to Appleton, she has a national reputation.

The young American dancer brings with her a company of 27 people, including a ballet of beautiful young girls; her sister Cornelia, an artistic solo dancer; an orchestra of selected musicians, and a sextette of Spanish concert guitarists brought from Spain especially for these presentations.

There will be the unusual combination of artistic dancing, representing many climes; pantomime, fine music, and special hangings and novel lighting effects. Miss Niles has not only charmed audiences in cities in her own country, but in such foreign centers as Madrid, Seville, and Paris. The New York Telegram acclaimed her "this radiant dancer" and the Pittsburgh Times declared "she recreated for us a Spanish afternoon as no actor has done for us".

AUTO CLUBS FAVOR HIGHER GAS TAX

Want Removal of Graduated License Fee and Personal Property Tax on Cars

Madison—(P)—The proposed bill of state Senator Robert M. Caldwell of Lodi to increase the gasoline tax and reduce license fees and personal property tax on automobiles will be favored by Wisconsin automobile clubs, according to Arthur L. Husted, secretary of the Madison Auto Club.

Mr. Husted points out that a shift in tax assessment would be more equitable than the present system, and says that for this reason the non-motorist who is forced to pay high fees will have the burden moved to those who use their automobile often.

According to the Madison man the matter of snow removal will be alleviated for "sufficient money would be provided for snow clearance and maintenance through roads" from the tax shift.

Senator Caldwell's proposal would increase the tax on gasoline from 2 to 4 cents a gallon. He explains that a 1-cent a gallon tax would bring $3,000,000 a year, the same as the personal property tax, and the latter levy than could be removed.

He also suggests that the present graduated license law be repealed and a fixed license fee substituted, with a provision that county clerks distribute licenses instead of the secretary state's department. Mr. Husted points out that 33 states now have gasoline taxes higher than Wisconsin. Six charge five cents a gallon, 12 four cents a gallon and 15 three cents a gallon, he says. Only three have no tax.

BLAINE'S CAMPAIGN SPEECH GOES ON AIR

Krugmeier, head of the committee, will speak at Black Creek. Friday night Joseph Witmer will talk at Little Chicago and on Saturday night Mr. Staidl and Mr. Wheeler are to speak at Hortonville and John A. Lonsdorf, district attorney, and Oscar J. Schmiede, assemblyman, will talk at Osborn.

COUNTIES MUST BUY HOSPITAL EQUIPMENT

Madison—(P)—Straight-jackets and anklets are "equipment" for insane hospitals and are therefore to be purchased out of county funds that support these institutions, and not at the expense of the states of the inmates who are to wear them. The attorney general, in an opinion to Frederick C. Aebischer, district attorney, Chilton, held that these articles could not be classified as clothing, under the law and were therefore to be purchased by the county.

NO EXCITEMENT ON HALLOWEEN HERE THIS YEAR

While there were many "kicks" celebrating Halloween Wednesday evening there was not a single report of any serious mishap or property damage resulting from the celebration, according to Police Chief George T. Prim. The chief said a full crew of police officers were on duty all night to prevent trouble but none was experienced. Some small pieces of furniture were carried off by celebrators and a "gang" hauled a large wagon to the south entrance of the high school building and deposited it there. No other reports of depredations were made. A few windows were soaped.

MORE SNOW PROMISED FOR NEXT FEW DAYS

The first snow of the winter arrived Thursday morning. More snow with a drop in the temperature is expected for this vicinity in the next 24 hours, the weatherman says in his predictions for Thursday night and Friday.

Snow has been prevalent throughout the middle-west during the past 12 hours and in several northern sections of the state it blanketed the landscape, it was reported.

Rain or snow is predicted in the upper and lower lake regions. Winds in the upper regions are in the northeast and in the lower regions they are in the east, promising rough weather conditions.

The mercury registered 37 degrees above zero at 6 o'clock Thursday morning and 40 degrees above zero at 12 o'clock noon.

Markets

STRONG BUYING AT OPENING OF MARKET

Irregularity Develops Before Midday in Some of Recent Favorites

New York—(P)—Strong buying support came into the stock market overnight, with the result that opening prices Thursday displayed a strong undertone. American Radiator opened 5 points higher at 17 1/2, a new high record. Westinghouse Electric opened with a block of 5,000 shares at 115 1/2, up 1 1/2, or buying influenced by expectations that the company would benefit through the gigantic electrification program of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Initial gains of a point or more were recorded by Radio, United Carbide and General Motors. The public demand for stocks was again on a large scale. With about $5,000,000 in dividend and interest payments to be distributed this month and the prospects of easier money rates, pools resumed their activities on a broad scale. Coppers continued to respond to the improved trade position reflected in recent advances in the price of the red metal. Kennecott quickly moving up 3 points to 48 1/2, a new high record, and International Nickel setting a new peak at 12 1/2, up 2 1/2. Greene Canals Copper also recorded an early 8 1/2 point advance.

Commercial Investment Trust and Koister Radio were rapidly bid up more than 2 points to new high records. Public Service of New Jersey, American Express, Western Union, General Motors, Westinghouse Electric, Murray Corporation and U. S. Steel Common, extended their initial advances to 2 points or more. International Harvester opened 3 1/2 points lower and then rallied 4 points before the end of the first half hour.

COOLIDGE WORKS QUIETLY TO AID HOOVER CAMPAIGN

"Insiders" Say That Nominee Acts on Advice of President

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Washington—Although President Coolidge had, up to this writing, limited his active support of Candidate Hoover to his epistle to the Bay States, folks familiar with the inner workings around the White House profess to see Coolidge strategy and campaigning theories underlying the type of appeal Mr. Hoover has elected to make to the voters.

The president is known to have advised the candidate during their talks at the summer White House in Wisconsin just after the nomination to conserve his health and not go galloping about the country speech making. He is also understood to have pointed out to his former cabinet officer who was making his first try at vote getting that the one certain factor to be expected in any campaign was evidence of political ingratitude.

Harking back to the president's own campaigning methods through nearly a quarter century of running successfully for office, these observers point out two other aspects of Hoover procedure which might well flow from Coolidge advice. It has always been the Coolidge way to campaign so as virtually to ignore the sayings and doings of his opponent. He has never believed in getting into verbal sparring matches or bothering about answering every attack made upon him. And so far as the record of the Coolidge administrations go, the president has plainly indicated that he feels it needs no defense or explanation but speaks for itself.

SILENCE COOLIDGE POLICY
In that connection Secretary Mellon's counter blast at Governor Smith over the latter's assault on "Coolidge economy" now seems to have been very unwelcome to the White House.

There are, also, indications that White House influence with the Republican candidate himself and with national committee campaign strategists has been consistently exerted against anything approaching a debate with the Smith forces over any of the charges that have been or may be hurled at the candidate or the party up to election day. The fact that from the outset Mr. Hoover has followed a line of strategy close to paralleling these known Coolidge views is used to support the theory that the president is filling a far more important advisory role in the campaign than appears on the surface.

SMITH-HOOVER STREETS
It develops that Washington is already provided with streets or byways named respectively "Hoover" and "Smith." They are very insignificant thoroughfares in the suburbs, but the capitol is at least prepared to show it was ready for any outcome. There are in fact two streets officially named "Hoover," one designated as a "place" while the other is a road winding round "Hoover Hill," an old time suburban landmark. "Smith Place" is the only official recognition of that name, but there are two narrow byways known in each neighborhood as "Smith Row."

Y. M. C. A. TO GET ELECTION RESULTS

Election returns will be received by radio and telegraph in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A. next Tuesday evening, Nov. 6, according to G. F. Werner, general secretary of the association. The reports will be posted on a large blackboard in the lobby as fast as they are received.

Unsightly Skin Eruptions Gone In Three Days

Those bad looking red eruptions of the skin that humiliate you and keep you from social gatherings—what are you going to do about them?

If you are wise and want to get rid of them so quickly that you will be astonished you'll get a 35 cent box of Peterson's Ointment today and let its mighty healing power make you joyfully happy in just a few days.

You'll praise it to your friends ever after, for it surely does heal and leaves the skin clear, healthy and good to look upon.

And here's something more that a multitude of Peterson's Ointment friends know—make a note of it.

This good old remedy is just as healing for eczema, pimples, rashes and ulcers as it is for skin eruptions and if you doubt it ask any broad minded druggist.

Keep it in the house for burns and scalds, bruises, scratches, itching skin, chafing and like ailments, adv.

SUSPECT DEMOCRATS KNOW ABOUT THIS MISSING HOOVERITE

Teddy is an Esquimaux. He has been A. W. O. L. for three weeks and his absence has brought sorrow and loneliness to his boy friend Newman Johns, E. Alton-ct. Teddy has long white hair, black button nose, snappy black eyes, is very friendly and knows lots of tricks. In other words is a good citizen of the lower First ward. He has strong Hoover leanings and is suspected of being kidnapped by some Democrat or Progressive. If you see these lines, Teddy, you will know that you are wanted at home. Col. Joshua L. Johns is expected home from his duties to take charge of an intensive search for Teddy. Information of whereabouts or fate is being anxiously solicited.

MARION TALLEY WILL SING IN MILWAUKEE

Appleton teachers who attend the annual teacher's convention in Milwaukee next week will have an opportunity to hear a concert in the Milwaukee auditorium Friday evening, Nov. 9, by Miss Marion Talley, prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan Opera. Word of the concert, which was arranged especially so that visiting teachers might have an opportunity to hear Miss Talley, was received Tuesday by A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools.

Since the beginning of the World War Americans have invested nearly $6,000,000 in schools in foreign countries.

How Weak Nervous Women Grow Stronger

Feel Better, Look Younger and Have Steadier Nerves

If you only knew—you rundown, anemic women—who are dragging yourself around on your "nerves"—what a wonderful increase in strength and health Tanlac will give you, you wouldn't hesitate a moment about going to your druggist and getting a big bottle of this splendid medicine.

Mrs. C. A. Warner, of 502 First St. South, Aberdeen, S. D., says: "I suffered so from indigestion, kidney trouble and complete breakdown that I was in misery. Tanlac brought wonderful relief and soon had me eating everything. That tired, run-down feeling was over."

Tanlac is as free from harmful drugs as the water you drink—only Nature's own medicinal tonic herbs. Druggists know this and for the past 10 years have recommended it to men and women who need a quick "pick up" that will put them on their feet and give them a new interest in life.

So confident are the makers of Tanlac that if you are not helped by it, you get your money back on request.

CONTROVERSY OVER LAKE DUCK BLIND

Local Attorney Advises Client to Remove Blind on Commission's Order

Whether a hunter can erect a duck blind on property which he purchased but which since has been encroached on by lake Winnebago, is the question in a legal matter between the state railroad commission and an Oshkosh man who is being represented by Mark Catlin, local attorney. The state commission recently held it had jurisdiction over the matter and requested the blind be removed. Mr. Catlin said Monday he had instructed his client not to do so.

According to Mr. Catlin, his client, a Frank Kuehl, purchased property along lake Winnebago which since has been encroached upon by the lake. He set a duck blind on this property but a neighbor protested and caused action to be taken against him. Mr. Catlin contends the property is Kuehl's and if there is an obstruction to navigable waters as the state commission claims, it is up to the United States to start action and that the state commission has no jurisdiction.

COMPANY WOULD START AIR LINE TO CHICAGO

Appleton Chamber of Commerce has received an inquiry from a Milwaukee aviation company about starting a transportation line between this city and Chicago. The letter asks about local conditions and what success might be expected if the project is put over.

The chamber also has received inquiries from a western manufacturing company asking for names of wholesalers or jobbers of their product in this district, while another company asks about a window trimming service.

The fall always is a busy season for inquiries and questionnaires according to Kenneth Corbett, secretary of the local chamber. Many printing companies are getting out directories at this time and wish information on the city while credit companies also appear to be making a survey of the credit situation, if questionnaires are any criterion.

The government gave the hurricane sufferers all the contraband liquor seized in Florida. People in some other parts of the country are wondering how you go about having a windstorm.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

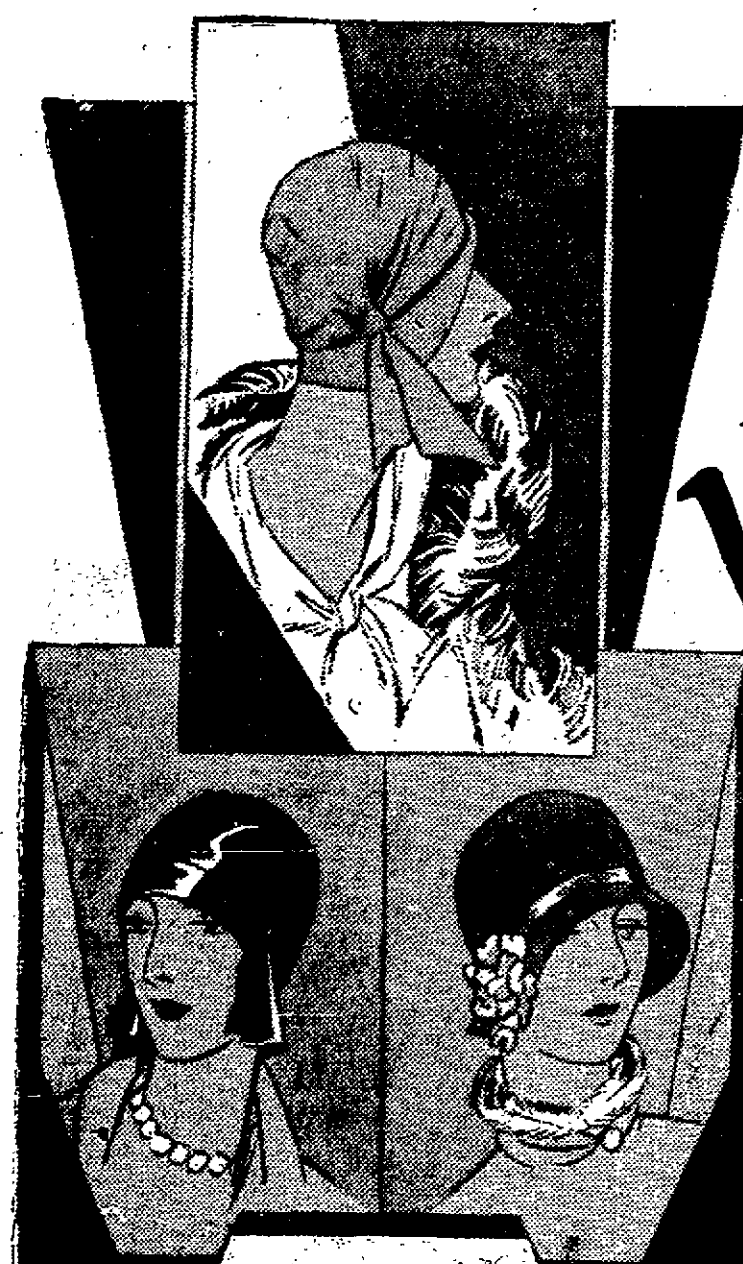

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

SOCIETY

NEWLY ORGANIZED
"MUNI" UTILITIES
ELECT OFFICERSMenasha Man Is Named
Secretary - Treasurer at Meeting in Menasha Hall

Menasha—C. E. Raught of Kaukauna was elected permanent president of the newly organized Wisconsin Municipal Electric Utilities association at the meeting at the new Memorial building at Menasha park Wednesday afternoon. Other officers elected were: Vice president, C. P. Gross, Wisconsin Rapids; secretary and treasurer, John J. Wabnitz, Jr., Menasha. The executive committee will consist of representatives from the different congressional districts as follows: Second district, H. G. Davis, Plymouth; third, Mr. Gander, Stoughton; fifth, Mayor Daniel Hoan, Milwaukee; sixth, W. C. Stauffer, Eighth, George Marvin; ninth, James J. Johnson, Sturgeon Bay. About 20 persons were present including Mayor Daniel Hoan of Milwaukee and Carl J. Thompson of Chicago, secretary of the Public Ownership League of America, both of whom gave brief talks.

The constitution and bylaws were adopted at the afternoon meeting. The appointment of committees was put over until a later meeting. With the exception of the annual meeting which will be held about March 15 of each year meetings will be held subject to the call of the president.

The committee on constitution and bylaws composed of George L. Moon of Plymouth, J. O. Fosson of Kaukauna and John Kuester of Menasha is preparing briefs which will be presented before the interim committee of the legislature at its next hearing at Madison on Friday, Nov. 2. Twelve cities are represented in the association. It is the intention to have the constitution and bylaws printed at once and send copies to these cities and to other cities throughout the state with the intention of getting them to become members.

FINISH PLANKING OF
TEMPORARY BRIDGE

Menasha.—The work of planking the railroad bridge over the government canal by way of which heavy truck traffic is to be detoured during the building of the new Tayco-st bridge has just been completed and filling in is now in progress at each end. It is expected it will be ready to accommodate trucks by the end of the week.

BOWLING LEAGUE WILL ROLL WEEKLY MATCHES

Menasha.—The City League Bowling teams will roll its regular series of games at Menasha alleys Thursday evening. The competition between the teams is becoming more intense as the season advances with the result that many records for this time of the year are being broken. The teams will bowl in two shifts, 7 and 9 o'clock.

ST. MARY ELEVEN TO PLAY OSHKOSH TEAM

Menasha.—St. Mary high school team of the Catholic Junior Fox River Valley Football league is scheduled to play St. Vincent team at Oshkosh Thursday. The latter team won the pennant in the Oshkosh junior league last year.

KAUKAUNA PROS WILL MEET MENASHA TEAM

Menasha.—Twin City team of the Northeastern Wisconsin football league will play Kaukauna next Sunday afternoon at Recreation park. Kaukauna is said to have a strong team and if such is the case Twin City fans may rest assured of being entertained. The local team has been doing extra work this week getting in condition.

MENASHA
PERSONALS

Menasha.—P. J. Bach was in Chicago Thursday on business. Wesley Saecker and George Krautkramer were Milwaukee visitors Wednesday.

Stubborn Cough
Quickly Ended by Famous Recipe

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that usually follow the "flu."

From any drugist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germy mucus and causes chest secretions in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

SOCIAL ITEMS AT
MENASHA

Menasha.—Mrs. Susan Stilt entertained the Worth While Bridge club Tuesday evening at her home, 324 First-st. Honors were won by Mrs. Helen Jung, Mrs. Susan Stilt and Mrs. Fred Stilt. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Stilt.

The Avant club met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. E. J. Fahrbach. Cards were played.

Their card party early in the week was such a success that the Eagle ladies are planning to follow it up with others. Forty tables were at play at the last one and both the Eagle hall and gymnasium were required to accommodate the crowd.

Bert Finch was reelected president of the Catholic Family Protective association Wednesday evening at the annual meeting at Mr. Finch's home. Other officers elected were: Vice president, Kathryn Esdepsky; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Theresa Orth; vice secretary, Ralph Walbrun; delegates to the state convention at Eau Claire Nov. 21 and 22, Mrs. Orth and Mrs. John Stilt; alternates, Bert Finch and Miss Esdepsky.

The newly elected officers of Menasha club and their wives entertained at a dancing party Wednesday evening at the clubrooms. Sixty couples were present and music was furnished by Mennings orchestra. The rooms were handsomely decorated in halloween colors and lunch was served. The party marks the opening of the club's social season.

The officers are president W. J. Dowling, vice president, George Blowers; secretary, W. C. Friedland; treasurer, H. W. Jones; chairman of the social committee, E. J. Aylward; members of the executive committee, Dr. N. Fitz and Dr. H. W. Loomans.

Mrs. C. E. Pierce entertained the Thimble club Wednesday afternoon at her home 419 N. Myrnat-st.

Miss Ruth Preslicka, who had made her home with Mrs. Arnold Springborn for the last six years, and George Tomashek of Shawano were married at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning at Mackville Catholic church by the Rev. Father Schoenmer. The attendants were Miss Emma Tomashek and Raymond Pres-

HALLOWEEN CAUSES
LITTLE DISTURBANCEPolice Nab a Few Youngsters for Damaging
Church Property

Neenah.—With exception of a few pranks which landed a few young boys in the city jail for an hour or so, Halloween passed off Wednesday night with but little damage. The boys were arrested following the alleged breaking of a window, entering one of the churches, and damaging a First ward porch. A small sum was paid by each of them to pay the damage and after a reprimand by Chief Watts, they were allowed to return to their homes. A window at the Drahelm soft drink and billiard hall, was badly scratched with a diamond or some other sharp article. The Kimberly high school came in for the annual disturbance by some of the pupils who started to remove a lot of brick and wood from piles at the rear of the building but were caught by school authorities.

Mr. and Mrs. Tomashek left for Chicago immediately after the ceremony and upon their return will reside at Oshkosh.

The music department of the Economics club will hold an open meeting Friday afternoon at the public library for members and their friends. The program committee consists of Mrs. M. F. Matheson and Mrs. P. J. Schneller. The members of the music department will be dressed in costumes of long ago.

The program will include roll call, music events; America, the Beautiful, sung by the music department; piano solo, Mrs. E. H. Schult; paper, "What Immigration Has brought to American Music" by Mrs. Brooks; Irish Songs by Miss Pauline DeWolf; reading by Mrs. John Chapman; Welsh Songs by Mae Redner Johnson; Swedish Songs by Miss Edna Robertson; French Songs by Mrs. Marie Boehm; Indian Songs by a trio composed of Mrs. Peters, Mrs. F. J. Schneller and Mrs. McCleed accompanied by Mrs. Fritzen; piano solo by Mrs. Matheson. The hostesses will be Mrs. Minro and Mrs. Puller.

NEENAH
PERSONALS

Neenah.—Mrs. Raymond Peeters has returned from a visit with relatives in Minnesota.

Mrs. Frank Veaser is ill at her home on Higgins-ave.

Miss Nesta Edwards and Miss Gertrude Jacobs of Milwaukee, are guests of Misses Helen and Elizabeth Babcock.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Seefeldt and sons of Fond du Lac, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Howman.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilson of Wauwata, are visiting relatives here. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kruger and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Krueger of Milwaukee, are visiting Albert Kuehl.

Mrs. Herman Birner, route 11, Neenah, submitted to a major operation Thursday at Theda Clark hospital.

Lorraine and Lois Kiza, Menasha, had their tonsils removed Thursday morning at Theda Clark hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Arnt of Chippewa Falls are visiting here for a few days.

CITY OFFICIALS LOOK FOR NEW STREET PAVING

Neenah.—Mayor George Sande, Engineer Frank Kellogg Jr., Street Commissioner Martin Wacholz and Aldermen William Schmidt, Louis Herziger and John Stilt were at Kaukauna Wednesday to examine the paving between that city and Appleton. On the return trip the party stopped at the Outagamie-co garage to examine a snow plow which the county uses on its roads.

BICYCLIST RUNS INTO WIRE ACROSS STREET

Neenah.—A small son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Overly, Third-ave, was painfully but not seriously injured when he ran into a wire stretched across Church-st. The boy was riding his bicycle on an errand for his mother when he struck the wire which caught him under the chin, cutting a bad gash in the side of his face and throwing him from the bicycle.

AUTOIST FINED

Neenah.—Charles Tudor was arrested Wednesday for passing cars on Mill-st bridge. He was fined $10 and costs.

SOCIETY

Neenah.—Kane Lodge of Masons has issued invitations for a banquet at 6:30 Monday evening at Masonic temple. Work in the third degree will follow the banquet.

The League of Women voters will meet at 7:30 Friday evening at the public library club rooms. An interesting program has been arranged and men as well as women have been invited.

Mrs. Q. Ewen of Chicago, who is visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. Henry Nelson, entertained a group of women Wednesday evening at bridge. Prizes were won by Miss Anna Gramm, Mrs. Earl Thompson and Mrs. Owen Kuether, the latter of Appleton.

Danish Brotherhood and Sisterhood have arranged for a get-together party to be held Saturday at the Brotherhood hall on W. Wisconsin-ave. A dinner will be served at 6 o'clock for members and their families and invited friends. Following the dinner a program of music and short talks will be given followed by dancing.

Howard Kehl entertained a group of young men Wednesday evening at a Halloween party at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kehl, E. Columbian-ave. The time was spent in playing games.

Winnebago chapter of De Molay will meet at 10 o'clock Sunday morning at Neenah Masonic temple and go in a body to First Methodist church to attend the morning service. The Rev. T. J. Reykall has prepared a special sermon for the young men.

VOLLEYBALLERS LOSE

Neenah.—The Green Bay Y. M. C. A. volleyball team defeated the Neenah Fraternity club team Wednesday evening at Green Bay, by a score of 4 to 1. A return game will be played here at Wesley hall in the near future.

COMMITTEE MEETING

Neenah.—The executive committee of James P. Hawley post of American Legion, will meet Friday evening with Hugh Falvey to discuss plans for the regular monthly meeting of the post on Monday night.

COUNCIL ACTS BECAUSE
SIDEWALK IS ABOVE GRADE

Neenah.—Because Edward Hofensperger, Eleven-th-st, built a sidewalk more than a foot higher than walks in that vicinity in order to protect a tree on his lawn, a special meeting of the city council was called at Wednesday evening at the city hall. Mr. Hofensperger, it is said, had engaged the county engineer to give him a special grade instead of securing advice from the city engineer. The city engineer was ordered by the council to establish the proper grade but Mr. Hofensperger refused to lower the sidewalk. The council ordered the tree cut down and an ordinance drafted to establish the proper grade on that street.

BREAKS NOSE AGAIN

Neenah.—Claire Larson's nose was broken last Sunday in a football game at Citizen field. While at work Tuesday afternoon, at the Bergstrom mill, he fell and broke the nose again.

TWIN CITY DEATHS

EDWARD H. VAN OSTRAND

Neenah—Edward H. VanOstrand, 68, formerly of this city, died Tuesday, of pneumonia at his home at Cour 'd Alens Idaho. Mr. Van Ostrand was born in Fond du Lac but spent his youth in Neenah. Surviving are the widow; two sons, Dexter Van Ostrand of Amasa, Mich., and Mortimer Van Ostrand of Winchester, Idaho; one brother, DeWitt Van Ostrand of Phillips, Wis., and one sister, Mrs. L. J. Pinkerton of Neenah. Mr. Van Ostrand was president of the Craig Mountain Lumber company of Winchester, Idaho, and president of a bank in that city. The body will be brought to Neenah for burial.

A. J. ROGERS

Neenah—A. J. Rogers, 64, a resident of Neenah for five years, died at 3:45 Wednesday evening following a stroke of apoplexy at his home on Walnut st. Mr. Rogers and family came here from Waupaca. Surviving are the widow, three sons Charles, Asa and Carroll Rogers of Neenah, and one daughter Mrs. P. W. Peters of Stevens Point. A short funeral services will be conducted Saturday morning at the home by the Rev. D. C. Jones, pastor of the Presbyterian church, after which the body will be taken to Sheridan for burial.

CITY WANTS PEOPLE TO SEE MAIN STREET CLOCK

Neenah—The city is expected to make arrangements to retain the large clock in front of the E. A. Haertl jewelry store as a piece of street equipment. When the ornamental lights were installed on W. Wisconsin-ave, one of the posts was placed directing in front of the clock so that the face was not visible. Feeling that an injustice had been done Mr. Haertl who had placed the clock there for the benefit of the people, the city is to place the clock on top of the post so that it will be seen from all parts of the downtown districts.

Curtains Burn

The fire department was called to the F. J. Nabbefeld hotel, 1200 S. Onida-st, about 8 o'clock Wednesday evening when curtains caught fire. The blaze was put out before serious damage resulted.

CAMPAIGN OF SLANDER

The charge that Mr. Kohler is trying to purchase the governorship is a part of the campaign of slander. In the primary he spent a little over $2,000 of his own money. There is no evidence that he bought or tried to buy a single vote. He conducted a clean, straightforward campaign. The larger sum for general Republican organization in a presidential year was entirely reasonable as campaign expenditures go today. The Democrats are raising $4,000,000 to elect Smith and have most of it in hand. The portion that will go to Wisconsin, a doubtful state, should be more than double that spent in the primary, about which the Blaine crowd is raising such a fuss, yet they have no hesitancy in employing the enormous Democratic fund to help elect Mr. Schmiedeman, Mr. Kohler's opponent. They join with and serve under this dollar banner with enthusiasm.

We do not say the Democratic fund of $4,000,000 is excessive measured in legitimate modern campaign requirements, but if it is right to put $200,000 or $300,000 into Wisconsin to elect Smith and Schmiedeman, it is right to spend an equal amount in behalf of Hoover and Kohler. What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. The hypocrisy of the cry about money is apparent.

Mr. Kohler in his discussions has shown a capacity to grasp and understand state affairs and to formulate intelligent judgments on questions relating to them.

What does the most progressive citizen in Wisconsin stand for that Mr. Kohler has not pledged himself to in his platform and speeches?

Mr. Kohler is for revising the tax laws for the benefit of the small taxpayer. He is for restoring the exemption to the poor man removed by the last legislature. He is for the income tax and other tax laws based on ability to pay. He is for tax relief to the farmer and worker.

He is for the budget system in handling state finances, the abolishment of useless boards, commissions and political perquisites and for rigid economy. His business training fits him perfectly for the introduction of efficiency and economy into state government, where both are badly needed.

He is for conserving the state's remaining resources for the use and benefit of the people.

He is for more thorough and effective control of water power, the status of which, whatever it is today, is the full and complete product of so-called progressive rule. He is for advanced and protective legislation for labor. He believes in a labor policy years ahead of what Wisconsin now has, both privately and governmentally. He has been years ahead of both in the conduct of his own business.

He is for a sound expansion of highway development in keeping with programs of surrounding and competing states and adequate to the needs of the people.

He is for placing greater emphasis on education and improving and modernizing our public schools.

He is for the encouragement of new industries and a larger participation by Wisconsin in the manufacturing business of the nation. He is opposed to political hostility to industry and the making of it a target of aimless abuse and reprisal.

He is especially insistent on legislation that will help the farmer and aid him in organizing production and marketing to obtain larger returns.

He is for the St. Lawrence Seaway, not the New York barge canal.

He is for a house-cleaning at Madison and reorganization of government on a business basis.

He is for a square deal to all, and privileges and favors to none.

His program and his pledges have the ring of sincerity. He has measured up to them in his private life.

He is a new ingredient in public affairs, a challenge to rapacious, professional politicians who keep the state in a turmoil and burden the taxpayers with extravagance, waste and job-holding perquisites.

Because he threatens to create a widespread demand for genuine reform and to break the hold of machine politics, Mr. Kohler is subjected to a veritable avalanche of denunciation, libel and persecution. He is pursued by a pack of politicians, ready to tear him to pieces, as though he were an enemy of society and unfit for the confidence and respect of anyone.

What is the sense of carrying politics to such extremes? What is there in it or right or helpful to Wisconsin in it? What is there about it to induce clean and capable men to offer themselves for public service, and are not these the kind of men we need and should have in public office?

To what purpose do we make a character shambles of elections? Why be deceived by these sham battles year after year? Have we not learned to discount by 100 per cent personal abuse and the bombast of politicians, and to be guided by reason and a sense of fairness? These are the true questions involved in the reckless and desperate campaign to keep Walter J. Kohler out of the governorship.

ROBERT LANSING

The death of Robert Lansing, a man of fine character, removes one of the minor, although for a time conspicuous, figures in the crucial war days. Mr. Lansing, was not an original choice of President Wilson for secretary of state. He fell into the position from counselor of the state department through the resignation of Mr. Bryan, evidently because he was familiar with all that was going on and possibly, too, for the lack of a better man at the president's immediate disposal.

The differences between Mr. Lansing and President Wilson are not historically important. They relate in some degree to the holding of cabinet meetings during Mr. Wilson's illness when he could not be present, as well as to policies. Mr. Lansing had an excellent knowledge of international law and the technique of departmental affairs, but he was not such a statesman as should have been in so important a place at that time. Neither, of course, was Mr. Bryan.

One of the greatest weaknesses of the Wilson administration was its organization of the state department. Most of the vital work had to be handled by the president personally. Aside from Mr. Bryan's pacifism, one would not have believed it possible that the chief branch of executive government could have been so demoralized and so incompetently handled as during his service as secretary of state. Mr. Lansing was in a difficult position when he succeeded Mr. Bryan, for he had no real authority and everything was topsy-turvy. He would have made a passable secretary of state in times of tranquillity, but neither he nor Bryan were capable of making great decisions such as were required during the World war.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.

Thursday, Nov. 5, 1903.

Houses being built by muskrats indicated that a mild and open winter might be expected.
Mike Githor had in his possession a check issued to him by the United States for the sum of four cents. It had the date of June 29, 1904 on it and was sent to him at the expiration of his term as postmaster at Mackville. In setting up his accounts he overpaid the government to the amount of four cents.

FOREVER AFTER YOUR OPERATION

I was fairly fit when I had my operation. Not athletically trained, but on the other hand not a flabby bag of mush, either. You see, for several years I had been playing football, and I was pretty regular, and to this almost exclusively I owed my modest physical fitness.

So when the emergency came, I didn't mind it at all. And before the stitches were removed I was playing some of the horizontal movements of the symphony again, of course on the fly. My surgeon was a good one, but, like most good surgeons, a very conservative man, and I know he doubted the wisdom of such exercise so soon after an abdominal incision.

There are surgeons, whose tribe, I believe, is increasing, who not only insist on the patient sitting up a few days after a clean abdominal operation but require the patient to do a regular system of exercises calculated to restore some degree of tone or normal vigor to the abdominal muscles and so to promote the healing process and prevent prolonged disability. This modern departure is not radical; it is only progressive. It is a step forward in art of surgery, comparable with the modern practice of taking fractured members out of the splint or cast daily from the first few days, for inspection, gentle massage and manipulation. This modern way of dealing with broken bones gives infinitely better results than the old time practice did, if restoration of use of the injured member is the criterion. Not only that, but it as a rule, a better cosmetic result, too, if appearances are of any importance.

The surgeons who are urging patients to get up a few days after clean abdominal operations and requiring them to take regular exercises in the weeks of convalescence, render their patients a greater service than the patients may realize. This practice has already proved its value in the prevention of adhesions. That is enough to say about a sad subject.

Aside from the evil consequences of the old time practice of keeping operative patients confined to bed for several weeks and forbidding any attempt at exercise for several months and even enjoining the laziest ones in harness of one kind or another to "hang out the belly, the coding tended to weaken the patient's morale and inspire a most unwholesome attitude toward life. For this the conservative, unprogressive surgeons are to be censured; they have contributed unnecessarily to a habit of invalidism. Sometimes surgeons become so centered upon the technique of their work that they grow careless of the other factors involved in their relations with the patient. The best surgeons are made not born. Surgery as a specialty of medicine should be prohibited except to the man who has had at least 10 years of experience in actual family practice. As things are now, any qualified licensed doctor of medicine may limit his practice to surgery if he so desires; or to any other specialty.

These observations are prompted by the frequent inquiries I receive from readers. They ask whether it will be all right to go swimming six months after an operation; whether one may safely leave off the corset or supporter so many weeks after the operation; and many similar questions, indicating that while the old fashioned method is still in vogue the surgeons fail to give definite instructions to the patients concerned. In the absence of such definite instructions, I should say, yes. In all means, can the corset and go on in swimming, if you are able to be about at all.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Here's a New Dodge
Was wondering if you can advise me.

Kindly give the name of ingredient used with black tea for touching up graying hair. You said it was harmless. (L. J. D.)
Answer—That was a suggestion given us by a reader. She said she used a piece of copperas the size of a kernel of corn with a pint of black tea, and put this on her hair "for a few weeks." She declared it keeps the hair soft and beautiful and darkens it too. "Copperas" is iron sulphate, not copper.

See-Sawing On Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York—Just four blocks west of that amusement apex known as Times Square, the scenes of life shift rapidly and the glamour of lights is soon forgotten in the drab gloom of squalor.

Where, at 42nd and Broadway, men struggle to pay $10 a seat for the latest musical hit; four blocks west men pick up cigar butts from the sidewalks and bum dimes for rooms in a flop-house.

Where, at 42nd and Broadway, theater fronts glare and flaunt their gaudy amusement wares, four blocks west the buildings are in sad need of paint; ancient circus signs and show bills make shuddered patterns on old building sides; blousy-looking tenements and cheap rooming-houses run down to the river, and old muddle of old shops stare vacantly and shabbily into the street.

A bit more than four blocks, down from the world's amusement magnet, there is one little paint-peeled place, at first glance, could be mistaken for an old-fashioned store. And in the window there is a hand-printed sign which reads "Applications for Santa Claus now being filed." There are other signs admonishing the stray sheep to "Come to Jesus tonight and to find comfort at the nightly prayer meetings."

But it's the "applications for Santa Claus" that makes you stop and look in.

Looking in, you see a great counter laden with old clothes. The counter is made from two saw-horses and three loose boards. About the counter are men and women, plying and overturning. They are humans with pennies and dimes to spend. Some haven't even the pennies and stop to ask if there's anything to be given away. They are admonished to "come back in the morning and we'll see what's left."

The rough counter takes up but a portion of a small ante-room. It is separated by a partition from a larger room. An arch connects the two. Through the arch one sees lines of rugged wood benches and a sort of pulpit adorned with Biblical quotations. Mission workers slip in and out. As the door swings open and shut, the noises of Broadway are carried by the wind, down the street toward the river. There are lost overtones of music from a radio store, the magnified bedlam of thousands of auto-horned horns and that indescribable sound that crowds make as they rush about.

A little more than four blocks west of the gateway to a mad playworld, four tattered men stand about a desk, a few feet from the spot where other men and women maul about in a pile of old clothes. They are "making applications for Santa Claus." One is old; two are middle-aged; one is old; one is in his early thirties. All are marked by poverty—and there is that beaten look in their eyes; that abused and hunted look.

"Well you see," the little bald-headed man begins, as he dries the last application with a blotter, "You see, we have learned to start early now. Just before Christmas you know, all sorts of bums come up looking for Santa Claus jobs. And we're sometimes so hard up for men that we take anyone. But we'd rather give the men who really need the money the money. So we begin to register them early so that we will have time to make proper investigation."

"That young fellow you just saw has a sick wife and a baby. He hasn't had steady work in weeks and winter's coming on—and he doesn't know how he'll keep them warm and fed. Now we'll try and get him something, but he'll be first on any list we make out for Santa Claus jobs. You know we send them out on the street to raise money for the poor for Christmas and the job lasts for six weeks or more, and they can make up to $4 a day. Yes, that's why we register them now—so that we can pick the neediest."

saw six drunken men in as many hours, Chicago never was a saintly city as far as I know but what is it now? Smith never lived on a farm according to the papers but a man that has the ambition and sense to rise above his birth and still not become snobbish has the grit to fight for that which he thinks is right.

CONCEDE HOOVER WILL CARRY FAR WESTERN STATES

Democratic Nominee Looks Good in Montana and New Mexico

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the seventh and last of a series outlining the general political situation in various sections. It will be followed by a survey of the country as a whole.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington—There are 55 electoral votes in the Far West, divided as follows: California 13, Washington 7, Colorado 6, Oregon 5, Montana 4, Utah 4, Idaho 4, Nevada 3, Wyoming 3, Arizona 3 and New Mexico 3.

The Democrats concede most of these votes to Hoover. Impartial observers believe California, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Colorado, Utah and Wyoming are certain for Hoover or the next thing to it. Smith looks good in Montana and New Mexico and has regard many regard as an even chance in Arizona and Nevada.

All ten states went for Coolidge in 1924. But the Coolidge vote was smaller than the combined Davis-La Follette vote in Arizona, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico and Utah and the Coolidge majority in Oregon, Washington and Wyoming was not very large.

The religious issue, intermingled with the prohibition issue, appears to have cut the largest figure in Oregon. There have been defections among Republican men, but no women are counted on to offset them.

Smith will run stronger in Washington than in Oregon and the result there may be close, according to advice reaching this writer.

Smith is reported likely to carry San Francisco, but California is expected to go to Hoover. The southern section is strongest for the Republican candidate.

Idaho progressives have followed Senator Borah into the Hoover camp. Democrats there hope to roll up a large Smith vote, but do not appear to be confident of victory.

Montana, at last accounts, was anybody's state. Montana has two Democratic senators, a Democratic governor and a Republican legislature, with a Republican record in most presidential years. Senator Tom Walsh is supporting Smith, but the efforts of Senator Burton K. Wheeler to put over the national ticket are regarded as more effective. The state probably will be considered doubtful right up to Nov. 6, but it is one of those which the Smith managers often consider in trying to add up 266 electoral votes for their candidate.

Reports that ballots are going to be counted in New Mexico this year—all of them, that is—leave the state and its three electoral votes in doubt, with the betting even. With nearly half the state's population Roman Catholics, the Democrats would seem to have an advantage. Wilson carried the state in 1916 and Harding and Coolidge subsequently.

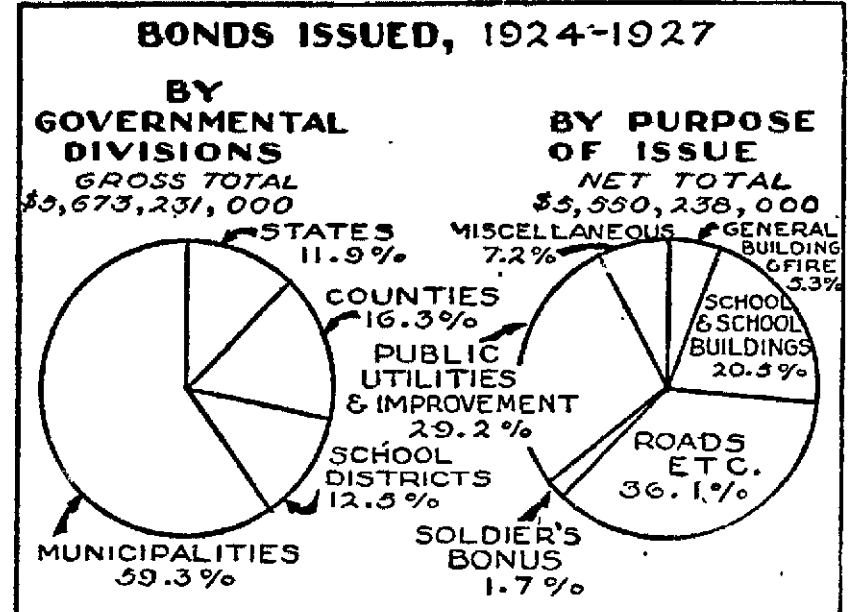

The most plausible reports from Colorado are that Smith may carry Denver and Pueblo, but will be unable to win the state.

Both Republicans and Democrats claim an edge in Arizona and information here concerning the state is far from conclusive.

Senator William H. King of Utah is expected to be re-elected. This fact and a belief that Mormon voters will favor Smith because of their objection to religious intolerance have given the Democrats some encouragement, but it is still generally supposed that Utah, one of the two states carried by Taft in 1912, will be in the Hoover column.

As this is written, Nevada appears to be doubtful and Wyoming reasonably sure for Hoover.

National Debt Shrinks As State Expenses Grow

New York—(P)—While the national debt has been shrinking from $25,500,000,000 in 1919 to $17,600,000,000 this year, the total of state and local debts has tripled since 1913 and now exceeds $10,700,000,000 the national industrial conference board reports.

Both trends are regarded as normal, for the national debt usually swells enormously in times of war and diminishes rapidly thereafter. Debts of states and municipalities, however, are said to be subject to continuous growth.

Cities have taken the larger share of new debt recently contracted, the board adds, due to their rapid growth and larger needs for capital outlays. States, however, are assuming a larger portion because of increased state activities, particularly in highway construction.

A chart prepared shows the share and purpose of state and local debts, as represented by bond issues, from 1924 to 1927, and the purposes for which the debts were incurred.

Market conditions this year have tended to restrict new offerings by states and municipalities and the total for the first nine months is estimated at $991,160,750 as compared with $1,178,508,094 for the corresponding period of 1927.

The Household Finance Corporation, by reason of large volume of business, efficient management, and favorable credit facilities, attained after fifty years of operation, is now making a very substantial reduction in the cost of loans up to $300.

You can borrow from us for about one-third less than we formerly charged, and about one-third less than the maximum lawful rate. For example, total cost on $50 for one month is $1.25; for five months, paid in five equal monthly payments, is $5.75. All other amounts up to $300 at same proportionate rate.

If you have a loan elsewhere, let us explain our new reduced rate and tell you how much you will save by borrowing from us.

You get the money without delay, return it in small monthly payments, arranged to suit your convenience. Each payment of principal reduces the interest.

No Endorsers. No one need know. Our service is personal and confidential. We do not notify your employer, neither do we make inquiries of your friends, relatives or tradespeople.

Loans made in Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna, Kimberly, Little Chute and other nearby towns.

politan opera company will appear in Appleton, as the first number of the Community Artist Series, sponsored by the conservatory.

Edward Johnson's career has been brilliant and colorful. He has created more leading roles than any tenor now singing on the operatic stage, the most recent being the name role in the great American opera, The King's Henchman. Before he made his debut in New York with the Metropolitan Opera company Johnson gained recognition as one of the world's foremost tenors. His gift, industry, vocal technique and interpretive artistry had signally filled him for concert and oratorio as well as opera.

Now that the single admission sale is about to begin, Mr. Waterman urges that all persons who have purchased season tickets and left them at the conservatory office call for them, so there will be no danger of confusing the two sales. There are still about 250 season tickets still available for the series.

A.A.U.W. To Hear Talk At Meeting

MISS Ellen Tutton, personnel director of Lawrence college, will be the speaker at the meeting of the American Association of University Women at 2:30 Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss Ruth Saecker, 414 N. Union-st. The meeting originally was scheduled for the home of Mrs. L. J. Pinkerton, Neenah, but the change in arrangements was announced early this week.

Miss Tutton, who was graduated from Lawrence college in 1925, served as personnel director at the college until June, 1927, when she went to Europe as the Good Will Student from Lawrence. Miss Tutton studied in universities in England, France and Germany and visited Spain and Italy. Her mission was to promote friendship between the American and foreign student. The subject on which Miss Tutton will speak to members of the Association of University Women will be "Student Life in European Universities."

Miss Saecker will be assisted on Saturday by Mrs. J. L. Johns, Miss Mable Burke, Miss Ethel Carter, Miss Jean Jackson and Mrs. L. C. Sleeper. This will be the last meeting of the organization before the state convention on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 16 and 17 at Oshkosh. Officers of the association and five delegates are expected to attend the state meeting.

LARGE CROWD IS ATTRACTED TO SCHOOL PARTY

About 200 persons attended the masquerade and Halloween dance given by the Parent-Teachers association of the Twin Willow school Tuesday night. The hall was decorated with pumpkins, black cats and white faces, cornstalks and Halloween colors. A fortune teller was a special feature of the evening. Music was furnished by the Rolly and Jerry orchestra.

The refreshment committee consisted of Mrs. Walter Oskey, Mrs. Mathew Beschta, Mrs. William Wheeler, and Mrs. William Kohl. Those in charge of entertainment were Mathew Beschta, William Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Glassnap, Walter Oskey, and Miss Alice Wiedenhaupt.

CLUB MEETINGS

Mrs. H. A. Rothchild, 924 E. Hancock-st., entertained her bridge club Wednesday night at her home. Mrs. R. J. White and Mrs. Eugene Colvin won the prizes at cards. Mrs. Colvin will entertain the club in two weeks at her home on E. Alton-st.

Mrs. L. H. Moore, E. College-ave., will entertain the Over the Teacups club at 2:45 Friday afternoon at her home. Mrs. H. S. Gattley will be the reader and the magazine article will be given by Mrs. F. W. Bradford while Mrs. F. W. Clippinger will give current events.

Mrs. H. H. Hallig, 101 E. Kimball-st., entertained her bridge club Wednesday afternoon at her home. Two tables were in play.

Mrs. Henry Otto, W. Lawrence-st., entertained the Ritelet Bridge club Wednesday night at her home. Two tables of bridge were in play and prizes were won by Mrs. Robert Grundeman, Mrs. Henry Hoffman, and Mrs. Walter Steenis. Mrs. Charles VanderLinden, Sherman-pl., will be hostess to the club in two weeks.

The Auxiliary to the Spanish War Veterans will meet at 7:30 Friday evening at the armory. This will be a regular business meeting.

Miss Margaret Ritchie, E. College-ave., will be hostess to the P. E. O. Sisterhood, Chapter 8, Friday afternoon at her home. A surprise program has been arranged by Miss Ruth Saecker. Miss Mary Orison, Miss Ethel Carter and Miss Ritchie.

Thirteen members were present at the weekly meeting of Lady Eagles, Wednesday afternoon at Appleton Womans club. Mrs. George D. Dell and Mrs. Herman Rehder won the prizes at cards. The regular meeting will be held next Wednesday at the clubhouse.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Conscience will be the topic of discussion for members of the Congregational church Christian Endeavor society at their regular meeting Sunday evening in the church parlors. The meeting will begin at 8:30. The topic will be discussed with reference to letting one's conscience be his guide. Miss Maxine Fraser will be leader in the discussion.

Members of Mrs. E. M. Salter's Sunday school class were entertained at a Halloween party Wednesday night in the recreation room of the First Baptist church. A spook walk and Halloween games provided entertainment. Dorothy Harriman and Ruth Whitman were members of the refreshment committee and Margaret Johnson and Morris Langdon were members of the entertainment committee. Mrs. Salter and Mrs. R. M. Harriman were the hostesses.

Artist Plays Program Of World Famous Music

THE organ recital to be given Friday night at the Methodist church by Professor William C. Webb of the Lawrence Conservatory of Music will include numbers by the most eminent organ composers—Bach, Wagner, Borowski, Guilman and Widor. Professor Webb, who is organist at the Methodist church and at Lawrence Memorial chapel, came to Appleton from England this fall.

The program will open with St. Ann's Fugue by Bach, composed during the great master's residence at Leipzig. The next number will be Vespers from Wagner's last opera, Parsifal. The Vespers, finished in 1882, is considered a majestic religious ceremony rather than a musical drama.

Two selections by two distinguished English blind composers, Intermezzo in D flat by Hollins and Scherzo in F by Wolstenholme will be played, and these will be followed by Sonata in A Minor, a selection of Russian native music by Borowski. An illustration of American organ music on the program is Burlesca e Melodia, by Baldwin, a selection which portrays the gambings of the will of the wisp. The great Marche Funebre et Chant Seraphique by Guilman will be played by the organist as the sixth number of the program. The Funeral March and Hymn of the Seraphs was composed by Guilman in memory of his mother, and was first performed by him at the opening of the Great Organ at Notre Dame, Paris.

Two compositions, the Berceuse or Cradle Song by the American composer, Kinder, and the Song of Hope by Arthur Meale, organist at Wesleyan Central hall, London, England, will make up one number of the evening. The program will be in a Monastery Garden by Kately, an example of descriptive music. The performance will close with Widor's Toccata in F, a composition designed to exhibit the finger agility and wrist dexterity of the performer.

Wisconsin Lady Knew the Way

Every mother knows what it means when her child begins to get underweight, pale, listless, bilious, coated tongue and no appetite. What every one of them doesn't know is that it's dangerous to use harsh methods to start the little stomach and bowels.

There's no use experimenting in such cases. Millions of mothers have proved the merit and reliability of pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable California Fig Syrup. It gently clears up the most stubborn cases of constipation; stimulates the appetite; gives tone and strength to weak stomach and bowels so they continue to act normally of their own accord; and makes pale, lifeless children, bright, rosy-cheeked and full of energy.

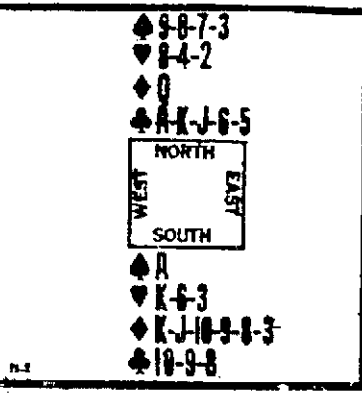

A Wisconsin mother, Mrs. E. P. Simons, 882 Thirty-sixth St., Milwaukee, says: "My little son, Earl, developed constipation. He became bilious, pale and fretful; had no appetite and couldn't digest right. He was losing weight. I had taken California Fig Syrup as a child, so I gave it to him. It regulated him quickly. He began eating heartily and digesting everything. Soon he was his robust, happy self again."

Ask for California Fig Syrup by the full name so you'll get the genuine, endorsed by physicians for over 50 years.
